DENMARK BANS DOG BROTHELS AFTER SUNDAY Sport CAMPAIGN

SUNDAY Sport readers take a bow – for your efforts have led to a TOTAL BAN on sick DOG SEX brothels!

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Last September we exposed the tragic plight of innocent pooches forced into a life of sexual degradation in the otherwise-civilised nation of Denmark, where animal sex remained legal.

We asked readers to write to the Danish PM – gorgeous Helle Thorning-Schmidt – to demand an end to the vile trade in dog whores.

And politicians in the land of Lego listened to Sunday Sport readers' outrage and have now passed a law banning bestiality. The Nordic country decided to tighten up its laws after our reports of animal sex shows, clubs and even animal brothels frequented by tourists taking advantage of its lax regulations.

The previous law only banned intercourse which harmed the animals.

But agricultural minister Dan Jorgensen pointed out: "The current legislation does not protect the animals enough – it's hard to prove that an animal suffers when a human has sexual intercourse with it."

Those voting for the bill said the legal loophole was attracting animal sex tourists. The Danish Ethical Council for Animals said in a report: "There are frequent reports of the occurrence of organised animal sex shows, clubs and animal brothels here in Denmark," while adding that it had not been able to verify the reports.

The move leaves just Finland, Romania and Hungary as the only European countries where bestiality is still legal.

Last night a source in the Danish government said: "Sunday Sport readers have pricked the conscience of the our government and our people.

"With their help, we have righted an immense wrong."

Bap-happy Liz proud to get 'em out

AVENGERS star Elizabeth Olsen has confessed: "I'm PROUD to go naked on camera!"

The 26-year-old (above) went TOPLESS in 2013 thriller Oldboy, and reckons "it doesn't destroy your career to appear nude".

And she says flash-happy actress Kate Winslet, 39, inspired her own naked scenes.

Elizabeth, who stars in new superhero flick Avengers: Age of Ultron, explained: "I remember watching Holy Smoke and thinking that it was so reassuring to see a young Kate doing something that was so bold in so many ways.

"I thought to myself, 'OK, it doesn't destroy your career if you go nude or take risks'.

"There are actresses who have decided never to do that and they become the examples that people talk to you about.

"But there are times when I like to do it. You want that voyeuristic quality, but I never feel I have to be nude."

Relationship trouble? Vic's got it licked!

REALITY star Vicky Pattison is BACK – and she's giving no-bullshit advice to couples in brand new show Judge Geordie.

The 27-year-old, who left MTV's Geordie Shore last year, will drive around the country solving relationship problems.

Vicky, from Newcastle upon Tyne (above), is joined by personal trainer Alex Cannon, 26, who will help dish out advice to the British public.

She said: "I'm back and I'm taking no prisoners.

"I'm a self-righteous cow who always thinks she knows best, so this is right up my alley!

"But be warned – we aren't going to sugarcoat anything. We're dishing up tough love with a side of sarcasm and a helping of brutal honesty.

"So if you're a cheat, a liar or a general twat, we're coming for you!"

Judge Geordie* will air on MTV on June 3, 9pm.

Striker Jay Hart was caught having drunken sex with a female supporter in the DUGOUT after his team's 4-1 defeat.

Hart, 24, can be heard laughing on the X-rated mobile phone footage as he was caught romping with the mystery blonde in his club T-shirt with his tracksuit bottoms around his legs.

He was dismissed by non-league Clitheroe FC after the sex clip of his tryst at Mossley AFC in Tameside was shared on social media.

Jay admitted last week that he had no idea who the woman was.

For reasons of taste and decency, Sunday Sport has NOT printed the face of the lady being enthusiastically romanced by Hart.

He said last week: "All I want say is that I regret doing what I did. I was drunk, I'd had more than a few drinks, and I want to say I'm sorry to my family and everyone at Clitheroe.

"I haven't seen the girl since – I don't have a clue who she is."

Hart was sacked by Clitheroe, who play in the Evo-Stik Division One North, within hours of the footage being shared online.

Rumer: My teen crush on stepdad

SEXY Rumer Willis has revealed how she once had a teen crush …on her STEPDAD!

Rumer's mum, Ghost actress Demi Moore, married Ashton Kutcher – a man who Rumer had been swooning over as a teen

"It was definitely weird for a minute," Rumer said of her mother's romance.

Now 26, she told to Howard Stern that she had posters of Ashton hanging on the walls of her room prior to her mum marrying him.

She said: "He was one of many guys on the wall!"

As soon as he and Demi tied the knot, however, Rumer said her feelings changed.

She added: "The perspective shifted very quickly! I think that's when you open up your Teen Beat and then you just take him down, find someone else and put him up."

Demi and Ashton split in 2011 after eight years of marriage. He filed for divorce in December 2012, and is currently engaged to actress Mila Kunis.

Bra-flash drunk slapped bouncer

A DRUNK woman who lifted her top in a pub on her hen night SLAPPED a doorman in the face after she was thrown out.

Leah Evans was found on the pool table with her legs in the air when John Roberts started his shift at the Golden Lion in Wrexham, north Wales.

The doorman later told bar staff not to serve Evans any more drinks after she flashed her bra.

The 27-year-old swore at Mr Roberts, refused to leave, and threatened to have him sacked as she was escorted out. She then slapped him hard in the face.

Evans, of Gladwyn Road, Wrexham, pleaded guilty to assault at the town's Magistrates Court after the incident on February 21, and was given a 12-month conditional discharge and ordered to pay £85 in costs and a £15 victim surcharge.

THE VOICE OF YOUR BRITAIN

You can ruin yourselves – but leave our cows alone!

OVER the years our countryside and our farmers have suffered grievous assaults.

The continual march of so-called "housing" has ripped the heart from local communities – replacing red-cheeked yokels with dreadful nouveau-riche oiks in bad slip-on shoes.

Mrs Currie's comments about eggs may have been factually correct, but they brought HAVOC upon our poultry industry.

The scourge of foot and mouth consigned countless millions of beast to the bonfire, while badgers continue to savage cattle, spreading rabies and tuberculosis as they go.

Urban ignoramuses, with little idea about country ways, support the continued ban on hunting the savage fox and drop litter in fields while on their revolting "pic-nics".

In short, the countryside – the beating heart of our once-imperial land – is under attack.

Today we learn that hooligans are busy forcing cattle to inhale the deadly killer death drug "hippy crack".

If the young and moronic "X Factor" generation want to addle what is left of their wits, that is their choice.

But when they impose their sick lifestyle on our livestock, there is only one solution.

THE BIRCH.

Wild lesbo sex is NOT the answer

AN investigation in today's Sunday Sport reveals that women are meeting for wild, booze-fuelled "lesbian sex parties".

We've seen the pictures and a surprising number of these young ladies are pretty and presentable.

If they spent more time learning domestic arts, rather than losing themselves in Sapphic self-indulgence, most would quite easily find themselves good husbands.

"I'm tired of people pinpointing musicians as the Illuminati. That's ridiculous. We don't run anything – we're celebrities.

Jailbird given porn 'to relax'

A PRISONER who asked for a Bible on his first night in jail was handed a stack of PORN MAGS – to "help him relax".

A recent report by the Howard League For Penal Reform found prisoners are "encouraged" by wardens to masturbate and that some "offending behaviour programmes" encourage "healthy masturbation" by lags.

One jailbird told a guard he was "overwhelmed and nervous" on his first night in prison and asked for a copy of the holy book so he could pray.

But when the guard couldn't find a Bible he handed over a stack of adult magazines, telling the prisoner they would "help him get to sleep".

The report on sex in prisons stated: "After a while night staff returned and apologetically said that he could not find a Bible but could lend instead a selection of porn."

70 YEARS AFTER MONSTER'S SUICIDE, ONE FORMER FOLLOWER SPEAKS OUT...

ADOLF HITLER GROPED MY BOOBS!

KRAUT OF ORDER: Giselle Baumann with her cat yesterday (above) and her controversial photo with Hitler

SUNDAY Sport EXCLUSIVE

ONE of Hitler's last acts before committing suicide in his Berlin bunker was to GROPE a pretty assistant's BREASTS!

With Russian shells pounding the Reich chancellery and Soviet troops just yards from the Fuhrer's final redoubt, Hitler summoned 18-year-old secretary Giselle Baumann to his office.

Now 88 and living at a nursing home in Hamburg, Giselle recalled: "We were all terrified. Hours before, the Fuhrer had declared the war was lost and told us he and his new wife Eva were going to commit suicide.

"He asked me to come closer and said, 'Ach! There is one last service you can do for the Reich'.

"I replied, 'Jawohl, mein Fuhrer. What should I do?' He said, quite calmly, 'Take off your top. I have a need to feel your Aryan breasts'.

"I was aghast. I had no idea that the Fuhrer could be so naughty. Naturally, I complied. You never said no to the Fuhrer."

Addiction

The astonishing grope was secretly photographed by Hitler's personal butler, Heinz Linge, and Giselle has kept the only copy of the snap secret – until now.

She said: "My time on this earth will soon be over. It is the right time for the world to see this photograph."

The snap shows that Hitler is clearly unwell – at the time of his suicide he was suffering from crippling Parkinson's disease, the effects of advanced drug addiction and also painful FLATULENCE. Giselle said: "At the end, even with his 1,000-year Reich crumbling around him in flames, Hitler was still a man with a man's needs.

"The mucky pup."

Last night a source at the University of Berlin said: "We believe this photo is genuine. Last year we were handed a picture of Hitler apparently playing naked blind man's buff. That photo we believe to be a fake.

"But the titty grab picture is genuine. No doubt about it."

Thursday marks the 70th anniversary of Hitler's suicide, which brought about the end of the Second World War in Europe.

IF your daughter is planning a holiday in the sun this summer, it's time to have a SERIOUS word with her.

Because booze-fuelled SEX ORGIES in hotspots like Magaluf in Majorca are being FILMED and flogged by PORN firms!

The antics of sex-crazed twentysomethings are being caught on camera phones or tiny camcorders.

And the explicit footage is then sold to the highest bidder, and participants in the orgies have NO CONTROL over how it is used!

Sunday Sport investigators found this X-rated footage taken at a so-called "boat party" near Magaluf.

The accents of most of the participants suggest they are British.

And in one scene, a young woman – aged around 20 – takes the SEMI-ERECT penis of a fellow reveller into her MOUTH and orally stimulates it.

Bystanders WHOOP and CHEER as they watch the action unfold.

Sex health counsellor Kel Ashley said: "The scenes of debauchery in some of these holiday bars are shocking and drunken women are encouraged to carry out sex acts on men.

"Young women should be very vigilant. Do they want to risk appearing in a shocking film that will end up on the net and be around forever?"

One unnamed dad was too upset to comment about the footage last night.

Topless protestor wrestled to floor by Spanish cops

A PROTESTOR with radical feminist protest group Femen was arrested after staging a bare-breasted protest against Spain's new "gagging law".

She cornered Spain's interior minister, Jorge Fernández Díaz, as he arrived at Madrid's Metropolitano hotel for a meeting on intelligence against terrorism and organised crime.

The slogan "Violador de libertades" – or "Freedom rapist" – was emblazoned across her chest while she shouted "protesting is not a crime!"

And she had "Fernández Díaz guilty" written across her back.

Spain's controversial Citizen Security Law (Ley de Seguridad Ciudadana), which was passed last month, has been christened the "gagging law" by protestors because of its strict new rules across a range of areas – including protests.

The new regulations will impose huge fines for unauthorised protests outside buildings "which provide basic services to the community", sparking accusations of the government preventing free speech.

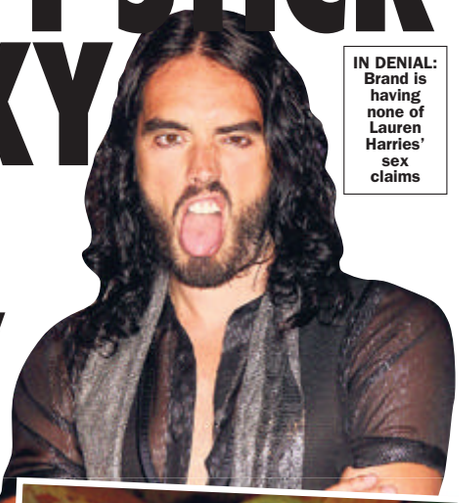
BRAND: I DIDN'T STICK MY DICKY-WICKY INTO LAUREN'S TRANNY-FANNY



IN DENIAL: Brand is having none of Lauren Harries' sex claims

By NEIL GOODWIN neil@sundaysport.co.uk

TRANSSEXUAL reality star Lauren Harries has BLASTED Russell Brand after he DENIED knobbing her.

Lauren, previously known as child prodigy James Harries, allegedly had a six-month fling with the comedian after appearing on his programme Big Brother's Big Mouth.

In a blog called "The Affair", she claims their first encounter took place at a Holiday Inn in Borehamwood, Essex, near the TV studios.

Brand has repeatedly denied the rumours, but last week he cruelly suggested Lauren, 36, was suffering from a MENTAL ILLNESS!

The 39-year-old said: "I don't want to sound trans-phobic or insensitive, but you can't keep saying you've had it off with someone that you haven't, can you?

"It's mentally ill to say you've had it off with someone you haven't."

Pathetic

But in an EXCLUSIVE interview with Sunday Sport, Lauren accuses the "pathetic, fame-hungry" comedian of using HER for publicity!

She raged: "How convenient that Russell brings this up now that he's working on a Hollywood film.

"He's got everything – a successful career, money, influence. Why does he need me to promote himself?

"And to accuse someone of being mentally ill is just not right.

"He's lying about our relationship once again because he doesn't want to upset his mother, who is his best friend in the world.

"I'm not surprised by his behaviour.

"And we never went out in public together. He wanted me to be a secret all to himself."

Lauren, who is now an electro-pop singer, has previously posed TOPLESS for a saucy calendar – inspired by Prince Charles!

She said: "I can imagine Charles liking them. I'm sure he has his jollies sometimes."

Last week there was some good news for Ed as a group of teenage girls attempted to turn him into a HEART-THROB.

Desperate Scousewives star & celeb blogger Jaiden Micheal writes for Sport

MTV's hit reality show Ex on the Beach has given viewers some of the best (staged) drama ever.

And some of the hottest people to grace the small screen – but some of the most obnoxious, self-absorbed, desperate no-marks, too!

Ashley Cain (right) has starred in both series of the show and now thinks he's on the same level of fame as the likes of Brad Pitt, Leonardo DiCaprio and Jaiden Micheal.

Ashley was a lovely, down-to-earth sort of lad before a bit of fame got to his head.

He's now just as pathetically desperate as the rest of us reality TV muppets!

Ashley had a sex tape "leaked" out this week. It doesn't take a genius to work out that it was Ashley who leaked word about the sex session, which was recorded and sent to his followers on Snapchat.

Because Snapchat videos can only be uploaded by the person who owns the account.

Does he really think we are going to fall for this "leaked" bollocks!

Must try harder next time you want to gain some attention and press, Ash, you just look like a bit of a tool over this story.

STAYING on the subject of reality TV "stars", Geordie Shore's Vicky Pattison has announced she has a new show coming to MTV, called Judge Geordie.

Her OWN show?!

I couldn't tell you what it's all about because I fell into fits of laughter when it was announced and missed the rest of the info.

I'd love to know who the hell is giving Vicky all these show opportunities over at MTV.

How can anyone be entertained by watching a gurning beaver lookalike?

I'd rather watch Vanessa Feltz re-enact the birth of Christ.

IN other celebrity news, Zayn Malik made his first public appearance after sensationally quitting One Direction.

The online magazines and papers went crazy, crazy, crazy (see what I did there, eh, 1D fans?) over Zayn's new hairdo.

A shaved head sent the net into meltdown.

If Zayn's not appearing with a Harry Styles tattoo on his arse cheek or with a bucketload of cocaine and a midget on his arm, I'm not arsed. Give the poor lad a break!

A nip down memory lane!

By SIMON DEAN

THE delectable Debbie Corrigan was always a firm favourite with Sunday Sport readers and soon her fans were BEGGING to see more of her.

The Macclesfield, Cheshire-born beauty posed for a series of so-called "American-strength" photos which were published in glossy grumble mag Whitehouse.

Then she went a step further and did some softcore boy-girl snaps, which were also printed in Whitehouse.

One fan drooled: "Many was the time I'd fantasise about Debbie's more than ample charms.

"I remember seeing those snaps like it was only yesterday. I damn near went and pulled the end clean off!"

But 34E Debbie also made the headlines thanks to her love life.

She was a long-term girlfriend of "Nick-Nick" comic Jim Davidson – and also had a dalliance with music supremo Simon Cowell back in 2001.

Cowell – who was then at the helm of TV talent show Pop Idol – may be a legend when it comes to making money out of crap pop, but dishy Debbie was less than complimentary about his skills in the bedroom.

She said: "Simon seems to think he's some sort of sex god. Personally I think he's the spitting image of Dale Winton.

"In words Simon will understand, he's not good enough. He's not a bedroom idol."

Man caught w*nking in sports shop

A FEMALE shop assistant did a double take after thinking she'd seen a man cracking one off in a sports shop.

Blackburn magistrates heard how the store manager at Sports Direct (above) moved on before going back to check what she'd seen.

And when Shueyb Yusuf turned to face her, sure enough he had his little chap in his hand.

Yusuf, 26, of Audley Lane, Blackburn, told police "voices" in his head told him to do it.

He pleaded guilty to indecent exposure and was remanded on bail.

Rachael Parker, prosecuting, said Samantha Little was walking through the menswear section when she passed the defendant.

"She went back and he was masturbating with his penis in his right hand," said Miss Parker.

Damian Pickup, defending, said it was clear his client needed help, adding: "He heard voices in his head telling him to partake in this conduct."

MY girlfriend bought a T-shirt for £80. I thought that was a ridiculous amount for a T-shirt. It said D&G on the front. I suppose fair enough, one of her tits is bigger than the other.

Carrie: I was drunk on set

STAR Wars legend Carrie Fisher says she and Harrison Ford were DRUNK when they filmed a key scene for 1980's The Empire Strikes Back.

The 58-year-old actress, who plays Princess Leia in the sci-fi franchise, says you can tell they're both plastered as they've got big grins on their faces.

She explained how they were filming in London when they ended up partying with rockers The Rolling Stones.

Carrie said: "They're a partying bunch of guys. And I drank. So we stayed up pretty late.

"Then we got to the set two hours late.

"We weren't hung over – we were still in our cups.

"If you look at those scenes, Harrison and I are smiling when we arrived in Cloud City."

SCREAMER: Shocked Alison came home to find horror sex scene on her kitchen table

A WIFE last night spoke of her horror at getting home to find her drunk husband BALLS-DEEP in a still-warm Tesco roast CHICKEN.

Pretty Alison Gould was looking forward to a nice salad and a glass of wine after a "bitch of a day" at work in Goole, East Yorkshire.

But her plans were dashed after finding temporarily unemployed husband Barry romantically involved with the ready-to-eat bird on the KITCHEN TABLE.

Alison, 27, said: "I screamed at the top of my voice, 'Oh Barry, you've got your dick in the chicken!'

Cider

"He looked like a puppy that had got caught shitting in a slipper.

"Needless to say, he'd been on the cider all day.

"He said 'I can explain'. I said 'Can you Barry? Can you really?' That's when he started crying.

"I told the filthy beast that I was going to my mum's for the night and that I wanted him gone by time I got home the next day.

"And he was, too! Good riddance. The dirty drunk chicken fker."

Barry's act of deviance has led to more unwelcome headlines for Tesco.

The retail giant, whose sector dominance has led to the closure of countless traditional shops across Britain, last week posted a record £6.5BILLION loss after losing market share to bargain stores such as Aldi and Lidl.

Unfortunately for the hard-pressed retail giant, the affair has lost Tesco another customer.

Alison said: "I was going to stop going to Tesco anyway, on account of the unsightly staff standing around in groups gossiping and utterly failing to provide a basic retail experience.

"Some of them smell, too.

"Catching Barry scuttling a Tesco chicken was the last straw. I'm Lidl all the way now."

Last night Barry, who is staying with friends, was too drunk to comment.

Strictly Bull Running TV show axed

PLANS for a celebrity reality TV show based on Pamplona's famous San Fermin bull running fiesta have been scrapped after protests.

Spain's state telly channel has had to shelve plans to stage what was dubbed Strictly Bull Running which would have seen stars pitted against each other as they ran through the streets of Pamplona being chased by a pack of half-ton fighting bulls.

News of the proposed series so enraged the Pamplona Peñas – the bullfighting supporters' clubs – as well as the authorities in the Navarran capital the idea has been dropped.

Enrique Maya, the mayor of Pamplona, said: "I am completely opposed to such a programme, and if it goes ahead it will be with zero co-operation from the City Hall.

Cops take 'naked corpse photos'

COPS have been accused of stripping the corpse of a pretty car smash victim and taking sick snaps of the NAKED body.

Christina Mejia claims officers found the body of her 20-year-old daughter, Jessica, at the scene of a car accident, took off all her clothes and took pics.

Jessica was a passenger when her boyfriend, Nicholas Sord, was drunk-driving and rammed the vehicle into a pole in Cook County, Illinois.

Police say the photos taken were "normal crime scene pictures".

N Korean TV declares tyrant has smashed the world record

RECORD BREAKER: Kim (right) read Sunday Sport story (below) online and wanted to join in bum fun

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

COMPETITIVE Kim Jong-Un put an astonishing 47 Cadbury's Creme Eggs up his bottom – shattering a record that had stood for less than a month.

As Sunday Sport reported at the beginning of April, Chorley's Bruce Patterson got nine of the Easter treats up his jacksy.

But now Bruce's feat has been overtopped by North Korean dictator Kim.

If accurate, that would mean the pint-sized threat to world peace had more than THREE-AND-A-HALF POUNDS of chocolate and fondant up his despotic derriere.

Fanfare

A North Korean source said: "The Dear Leader reads Sunday Sport every week via sundaysportonline.co.uk and when he read about Bruce Patterson getting those chocolate eggs up his bottom he resolved to break the record himself.

"He ordered North Korea's embassies in the West to get hold of boxes of Creme Eggs. On Thursday he went for the record and managed a magnificent 47. A new world record."

Kim's eyewatering achievement was announced with a fanfare of patriotic music on North Korean news broadcasts last Thursday.

The eggs-up-bum stunt is not the only boast made by the podgy potentate.

In recent months he's claimed to have learned to drive aged three, to have climbed North Korea's highest mountain, the 9,000-foot Mount Paektu, wearing leather slip-on shoes and an overcoat and to have invented the electrical internet.

Venice votes to lift beach boob ban

CALIFORNIA'S famous Venice Beach may be about to lift its ban on BOOBS!

Local councillors in the town, just outside Los Angeles, have voted to allow women to remove their tops on the front, where tourists mingle with skateboarders, musicians and other revellers.

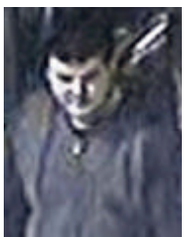
The resolution, announced on the website of the Venice Neighbourhood Council, now goes to the City Council, which has the ultimate right to veto women's right to air their teats on the beach.

In its resolution, the council noted that the beach resort "was founded and designed around the European culture of Venice, Italy".

And, they say, since "topless bathing is commonplace in Europe, Venice supports women being afforded the same rights as men to sunbathe topless."

The LA Municipal Code currently prohibits showing, among other things, the "genitals, vulva, pubic hair, buttock, perineum, anus, anal region, or – on women – any part of the breast below the upper edge of the areola."

The soulless killjoys.



Train pervert pulled his pud

RAIL cops have released a CCTV image of a man who tossed himself off in front of a female passenger on a trans-Pennine train.

The incident took place on board the 8.24pm Manchester Piccadilly to Leeds service.

PC John Hill said: "A man boarded the train at Huddersfield and sat across from the victim, a 46-year old woman from Barnsley.

"He then opened his trousers, exposed himself and performed an indecent act whilst watching the victim.

"The victim moved carriages to get away from the man, but he followed and continued to touch himself before leaving the train at Leeds.

"If you recognise the man in the picture, please contact us."

ITV drama's great big hope for the spring is the thriller Safe House.

It stars former Doctor Who Christopher Ecclestone as ex- cop Robert, who's moved to the Lake District to get a fresh start after a witness under his care was assassinated.

Robert's former police boss (Paterson Joseph) persuaded him to turn his guesthouse into a safe house and take in a family being stalked by a murderous villain who kept lurking ominously in corners.

Knockers

There's a fair amount of slow-paced moodiness, which the Daily Telegraph unkindly suggested may have been directly copied from the raft of Scandinavian drama on BBC4.

On the whole, Safe House's first outing has been described as a dud – although most critics reckon it may pick up in later episodes

But even if it doesn't, never mind. We've got the female leads with their knockers out!

ANTI-DRUG campaigners last night claimed THIS is the reason cannabis must NEVER be legalised in the UK.

Shocking footage from Amsterdam – where locals enjoy relaxed drugs laws – shows a "stoned" young man BUMMING himself with a giant dildo IN BROAD DAYLIGHT.

The video – taken from a CCTV camera – shows the anal self-violator:

- PULLING down his jeans and undies while on a canalside bench
- GREASING the bellend and shaft of the sex toy with so-called 'lube'
- SQUATTING over the eyewatering appliance
- LOWERING himself onto the implement, allowing the length of the device to penetrate his ANUS.

Astonishingly, the good people of Amsterdam – many on bicycles – pass by the revolting spectacle as though it were the most normal thing on God's earth.

Analysis of the footage reveals that the dildo is a 430-gramme "Deluxe Real Dong penis replica", which is on sale in UK outlets for £19.99.

John Grant, of the anti-drug group Spliff Off, raged: "Do we want Britain's streets writhing with dope fiends bumming themselves silly with foot-long rubbercocks?

"If the Dutch think this is OK, it is certain proof that their wits have been softened by pot."

Bad back 'witch' trial over home goblin remedies

A WOMAN stunned a court by confessing she owns two GOBLINS – a male and female – which she used to treat her back pains.

Elizabeth Solomon told the court that the goblins have names, wear black shirts and have beads around their necks.

"Your worship, I do have goblins at home – a female and a male one. The two are for healing purposes as I usually experience back pains in spring," she told the court.

"It is not true that I use the goblins to cast bad spells on my kids and their families."

The matter came to light after brothers Boas and Simeon Sibanda, of Lower Gweru, Zimbabwe, were taken to court after they stormed their mothers homestead accusing her of being a witch.

The brothers threatened to assault their mother if she did not remove the bad spell she reportedly cast on them.

Computer rage man shoots PC

A 37-YEAR-OLD man was arrested after he took his computer into a back alley – and SHOT it eight times with a handgun.

Lucas Hinch was charged with discharging a firearm within city limits in Colorado Springs, Colorado, after officers responded to a "shots fired" call.

"Investigation revealed a resident was fed up with fighting his computer for the last several months," said a police online statement, entitled "Man Kills His Computer".

It added: "He took the computer into the back alley and fired eight shots into the computer with a handgun, effectively disabling it."

Hinch told officers he had not realised he was breaking the law.

THE British countryside is in CHAOS – thanks to hooligans dosing COWS with killer death legal high HIPPY CRACK!

The mind-bending gas, which causes a sensation of euphoria similar to strong shandy or very poor weed, is now the legal high of choice for rebellious youths.

Each weekend, millions of youngsters inhale the gas from special balloons before falling about laughing, often into the sea or nearby lakes.

The invisible killer, also known as laughing gas or nitrous oxide, has reportedly been used by EastEnders starlet Lorna Fitzgerald, 19, and top Liverpool footballer Raheem Sterling, 20.

But now thrillseekers have found another source of mayhem – forcing innocent DAIRY COWS to inhale the deadly vapour through their grass-chewing mouths.

Using a night-vision camera, one of our photographers managed to get a photo of a tearaway – probably from a broken home – sneaking up to a cow to deliver a killer payload of hippy crack.

ALLEGED USERS: Premier League player Raheem (left) and soap star Lorna

The killer gas causes cows to:

- MOO incessantly
- STAGGER about as though they have the brain-rot death fungus BSE
- EMPTY their cow bowels
- SQUIRT frothy milk through their TEATS

Despite it being almost completely harmless, nitrous oxide is one of the most deadly substances known to man – having being linked to more than half a dozen deaths over the past century.

Scientists have not yet investigated the long-tern effects of nitrous oxide on cows, though they fear that high levels of hippy crack inhalation may lead to cattle EXPLODING.

Expert Dr Gary Yearsley from the University of West Lancashire said: "This awful behaviour could cause the complete collapse of the British farming industry."

STIFF: Billie shows off nips in new TV series

UNDEAD FIT!

Billie becomes naked Frankenstein's monster in new Penny Dreadful

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

FRANKENSTEIN fans will be saying "TITS alive!" when they see actress Billie Piper in the new series of Penny Dreadful!

The babe might have carked-it in the first series, but she is re-animated as a WALKING CORPSE in season two, which starts next week.

And Billie, 32, gets things off to a flyer by baring her boobs and MINGE within seconds of appearing on screen!

Our sneak preview pics show her rising from a cold bath to reveal stiff nipples.

And the new baddies of the Sky Atlantic series ALSO like showing their bare boobs, while harassing Billie's co-star Eva Green.

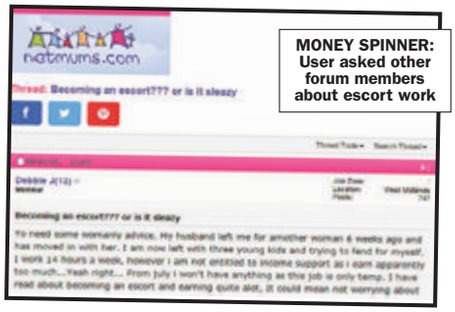
The bald naked ladies are in fact witches from a satanic coven led by medium Madame Kali, played by Evelyn Poole.

COVEN READY: Naked witches are new baddies in season two

SHOULD I BECOME A HOOKER?

Mums openly consider vice on net forum

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk



MONEY SPINNER: User asked other forum members about escort work

UK housewives are using a parenting website to discuss the pros and cons of becoming an ESCORT.

Netmum.com is a portal for women to chat about pregnancy, nappies, after school classes for kids and how to chart your ovulation so you can get up the duff.

But Brit ladies are also accessing the forums to probe the idea of prostitution to pay the bills.

One post in the casual "coffeehouse" section read: "Becoming an escort? Or is it sleazy?"

The user, "Debbie J", adds: "Yo need some womanly advice. My husband left me for another woman 6 weeks ago and has moved in with her.

"I have read about becoming an escort and earning quite a lot. It could mean not worrying about money and since my ex would have the kids at the weekend I would be free to work. Does anybody think this could work?"

While many women appeared horrified by the suggestion, others urged her to take the plunge – with many reporting their own success stories.

"Shelley W" penned: "I did it. I don't have emotional issues because of it, if anything I had more confidence! I earned very good money."

Others suggested sidelines in "talking dirty down the phone" or "topless ironing on the internet".

DEANO ON SUNDAY

AFTER the success of The Great British Bake Off, the BBC decided to milk the home-skills-turned-into-competition format for all it's worth.

So next we had The Great British Sewing Bee.

And now The Great British Pottery Throw Down is winging its way to BBC2.

That's right. POTTERY.

They used to show the potter's wheel on the telly in between programmes. Now it's suddenly prime time viewing.

The only thing worth looking forward to is the thought of host Sara Cox (left) being splattered with a load of particularly watery clay.

Mmmm. Dirty protest.

This ain't aid... it's BOASTING!

IF you knew someone who boasted about how much money they give to charity, it would not be wholly unreasonable if you thought them a bit of a ct.

On the world stage, Britain is now being presented as a similar epitome of ctishness by our leaders who parade our generosity.

"We give 0.7 per cent of our gross national income on foreign aid," declares David Cameron.

The shiny-faced halfwit even passed a law enshrining the 0.7 per cent figure in law.

Well, thank you, millionaire David Cameron. Thank you for handing out £13billion of our money. I'm sure it gives us such a warm and fuzzy feeling to have a multi-millionaire, who has an heiress wife, being so generous. With our money.

Of course, this country has a long and proud history of generosity to the world's unfortunate.

Offensive

We pour millions into collection buckets whenever there's a famine, plague, typhoon or earthquake in any of the planet's less-fortunate places.

But when politicians hurl our hard-earned overseas, it's not generosity – it's just grandstanding.

It would not be so eye-wateringly offensive if the money went to, you know, help people.

Nick Bryer, Oxfam's head of UK policy and campaigns, said: "Aid helps to provide food and shelter to those hit by natural disaster or fleeing conflict, trains teachers to provide an education to future generations, and pays for nurses and health facilities in countries like Sierra Leone and Liberia who've been hit by the deadly ebola virus and are in desperate need of our support."

IN NEED: But Cameron (below) isn't helping refugee camps like this one

Yes, Nick. That's what most of us understand by "foreign aid".

So why is £1.6BILLION of the budget – more than 10 per cent of the total – being paid to foreign aid "consultants" or "contractors"?

Why are professional aid workers reportedly being paid almost EIGHT TIMES the average national wage to work in parts of Africa and Asia?

Why is £6.3billion of Britain's aid budget being handed to the bank accounts of major agencies – such as the World Bank – and being sat on for up to two years, rather than actually being spent on the starving and destitute?

Monster

It's because the Government decided to spend 0.7 per cent of our national spend on aid, without any thought to HOW it would be spent.

It's a scandal that NONE of the major parties have the balls to confront – for fear of criticism from the preposterous Guardian newspaper.

Only a monster would deny that a rich country like the UK should give the world's poor a helping hand.

But only a fool would hurl our money at the Third World, no questions asked.

Unfortunately, we are being led by fools.

WE'RE THE REAL REASON GRIMMY MISSED HIS RADIO 1 SHOW!

Sunday Sport EXCLUSIVE

50-stone sisters' amazing claim

By BARNEY SAMUELS news@sundaysport.co.uk

TWO cuddly sisters last night sensationally claimed they BEDDED Radio 1 breakfast DJ Nick Grimshaw in a ROMP that made his miss Monday morning's show!

Sally and Tanya Walsh – who together weight 50 stones – say they partied into the wee small hours with the 30-year-old broadcaster – then retired to a youth hostel for a THREE-WAY sex session.

The Walsh sisters' account is at odds with the official BBC line that the Oldham-born DJ had missed the show as he'd lost his voice.

Sexy Sally, 25, said: "Ooh he's a right raver that Grimshaw. He showed us a REAL good time.

"He was too knackered to do his radio show. I'm not surprised – he were at it like a Duracell bunny."

Tanya, 26, added: "He left us walking bandy-legged for days. He's hung like a mule."

Sally and Tanya's claims appear all the more fancifal as Grimmy is widely thought to be a gay.

Some more doubt was cast on the duo's claim of romancing Grimshaw in their hometown Ipswich as many witnesses insist he actually spent last weekend in Turkey with a host of celebrity pals.

SHAW BLIMEY: Nick lost his voice

SOME CHEEK: Sally (left) and Tanya claim Grimmy was wild in the sack

PIT BULL TOSSER: I'M NO ANIMAL PERV

A MAN who was caught WANKING a pit bull dog says he should be accused of being a SPUNK STEALER rather than an animal sex pervert.

The dog's owner found Paulo Silva "manually masturbating" the mutt in his garage.

Silva, 51, claims he was collecting its sperm to inseminate a pal's pet and he should be charged with theft – not bestiality – because the act was not for his own sexual gratification.

Silva got to know the dog while doing building work at its owner's house. But his request to breed it with a friend's female pit bull was repeatedly turned down.

Its owner also refused to let Silva play with the dog because he was not going to be home in Framingham, Massachusetts.

And when he did get back he found Silva in the garage "manipulating his dog's penis".

Silva told cops he was playing with the animal and not touching it inappropriately.

But he was arrested for bestiality and breaking and entering.

His lawyer, Christopher Post told a court there was "no probable cause" for a bestiality charge, but Judge Jennifer Stark denied the motion.

Silva was released on bail but banned from seeing the dog again.

He is due back in court in June.

COWELL TO FORM MONKEY POP GROUP

Shock claims in leaked documents

SUNDAY Sport EXCLUSIVE

BRITAIN'S Got Talent boss Simon Cowell wants to remake iconic Sixties TV show The Monkees – using REAL monkeys.

The 55-year-old media mogul's bizarre plans were contained in leaked emails between head honchos at entertainment giant Sony.

The astonishing exchanges involved executives from the multinational company and suggest Cowell was dead serious about bringing performing monkeys to British TV for the first time since the PG Tips chimps.

In one email, former Sony Pictures boss Amy Pascal wrote to Michael Lynton, CEO of Sony Entertainment Inc: "I told you about simon cowell monkees project right. The monkees with real monkeys."

In another, Pascal, 57, asked director Edgar Wright: "Have you seen the monkeys stuff from simon Cowell?"

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

Another email exposed by Wikileaks contains a message from Pascal containing the words: "We need to talk about simon Cowell deals on monkeys?"

Last night one top TV executive, who asked to remain anonymous, said: "The Monkees with real monkeys? That would be TV gold. BBC4 would snap it up!"

ORIGINALS: The Monkees starred former Corrie actor Davy Jones (second left)

Bush-mad hubby denies sex-starved wife nookie

A SEX-STARVED woman told a court that her ex-husband used to spend WEEKS praying in the bush, thereby denying her CONJUGAL rights.

Rosemary Mutema said that her marriage to Dzingai Chibodo got sour after she refused to join his church.

Chibodo had gone to Harare Civil Court, Zimbabwe, seeking a restraining order against Mutema.

"He used to spend weeks praying in the bush – ignoring me and the children. During that time, I got sexually-starved," she said.

Mutema told magistrate Mr Trevor Nyatsanza that Chibodo was not financially maintaining the family.

Mutema said Chibodo told her that he was no longer interested in their marriage because she was refusing to join his church.

Chibodo, a member of the Johanne Masowe apostolic sect, was accusing Mutema of breaching his peace.

"We are no longer staying together but she keeps on coming to our shrine insulting me with obscene words," he said.

Mr Nyatsanza dismissed Chibodo's application due to lack of merit.

GONE IN A FLASH

A SERIAL flasher is plaguing terrified students in the laundry rooms at America's poshest university – Harvard, in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

I went to a lesbian sex orgy...& didn't want to leave!

PRINCESS KATE'S posh sex orgy organiser pal Emma Sayle last week announced a female-only cabaret night.

The website for Le Salon Noir purrs: "For those who walk on the wild side, be the adventurous you; Enter Salon Noir.

"Worship the female form as we entertain you in our Moulin Rouge den of passion, pleasure and hedonism, with one hell of a show. And if you're brave enough, the party continues after.

"Come, watch, experience, explore and immerse yourself..."

The 36-year-old is certainly no stranger to the girl-on-girl scene, having witnessed plenty of lesboid goings-on at her world-famous Killing Kittens parties. Emma said: "We check out other women faster than guys do. It's just how we're wired – everything is aesthetic. At the parties, there are a lot of lipstick lesbians."

ORGY SUPREMO: Emma Sayle

EXCLUSIVE
By FIONA CRAVEN
news@sundaysport.co.uk

I went undercover for Sunday Sport to a full-on lesbo orgy – not organised by Sayle – and got these EXTRAORDINARY pictures.

One participant told me: "I'm married with two kids but this is my idea of fun. There are no strings, just good sex – and a good gossip."

At one point in the proceedings, no fewer than FOUR double-ended electrical minge massagers were in operation.

And, true to long Sunday Sport tradition, I made my excuses – and STAYED.

JESS: MY PALS H
BOOB ENV

PETITE Jess Kingham's amazing boobs just won't stop GROWING!

The blonde babe, 21, said her 32Fs are getting bigger and BIGGER – and don't show signs of stopping any time soon.

Jess, from Camberley, Surrey, said her mates are all green with envy over her stunning, all-natural chest, which she only started showing off as a glamour girl 12 months ago. The topless beauty said: "My boobs just keep growing. It's bonkers!

"My friends hate me now because of them.

I'd like them to stay one size so I know where I am, but they keep throwing me off!

"Maybe the more successful I am, the bigger they'll get. Oh no, what a conundrum!"

STUDENTS TALK SEX!

CHRISTINA ROE
AGE: 21
FROM: Cirencester
STUDYING: Environmental Science
UNIVERSITY: University of York
FAVE FOOD: Anything with cheese
FAVE DRINK: Guinness and black
FAVE FILM: The Truman Show
FAVE ACTOR: Harrison Ford

MONIQUE DEVEY
AGE: 21
FROM: Crawley
STUDYING: Criminology
UNIVERSITY: University of York
FAVE FOOD: Pasta
FAVE DRINK: White wine
FAVE FILM: Million Dollar Baby
FAVE ACTOR: Russell Crowe

FIRST TIME
CHRISTINA: It was quite bog standard sex.
MONIQUE: Mine was awkward.
CHRISTINA: We hadn't experienced sex first-hand before, so we did it in the missionary position. It was with my first proper boyfriend so it wasn't a one-night stand.
MONIQUE: My first time was awkward. When we started kissing I knew where it was going to lead. I didn't really know whether to expect fireworks.
CHRISTINA: And did you get any fireworks?
MONIQUE: No!

WILLY SIZE
CHRISTINA: I don't think size is important.
MONIQUE: Sometimes it is.
CHRISTINA: It's what they do with it. If they're confident with it then it's OK.
MONIQUE: It's about how you work together.
CHRISTINA: You should give them a chance to show you what they can do with it.
MONIQUE: But the first time you saw a small one would be a bit of a shock. I wouldn't stay away, though.
CHRISTINA: I don't think I'd stay for full sex.
MONIQUE: Full sex?
CHRISTINA: Just foreplay. If it was too small, he didn't know what to do with it and I didn't think it was going to work, I wouldn't have sex.
MONIQUE: It's not going to work so I'll get my coat.
CHRISTINA: They say a small average is about four inches. Four inches is a minimum – and that's quite small. Six inches is a good average size.
MONIQUE: As long as it feels good, that's all that matters.

OH NO MOMENTS
CHRISTINA: If they can't get it up, that's quite bad because where do you go from there?
MONIQUE: Home!
CHRISTINA: That's only happened to me once. It's bad because you aren't able to have sex. I once fell asleep while having sex, which was pretty embarrassing. We were both really wasted so I don't think he was bothered.
MONIQUE: It's bad when you can't even remember it. Another embarrassing moment was when I was having sex with my boyfriend at his mum and dad's when all of a sudden he stopped and said his mum was coming up the stairs.

She walked in as we pulled the covers over us, but she just kept talking to us like it was nothing. Then she kissed him on the cheek and said she was going out! That was weird and embarrassing.

BEST SEX
MONIQUE: The first time I had sex outside was good.
CHRISTINA: I was going to say that. It's really exciting.
MONIQUE: It was in the back garden. We didn't exactly go very far.We were kids and it was good because we shouldn't be doing it and we could get caught at any time.
CHRISTINA: Mine was in a car and we didn't know if anyone was going to walk past. It got all steamed up and the sex was fantastic.
MONIQUE: You think it's better because of where you are?
CHRISTINA: Yes, somewhere you shouldn't be. The sex is probably the same but it's where you're having it that makes it.

FAKING IT
MONIQUE: I do.
CHRISTINA: It's more when you're tired and can't be bothered.
MONIQUE: Just to get it over and done with. Sometimes if you tell them, you get their disappointed face and they ask what's wrong with them. Then they ask if you've faked before and if you still fancy them.
CHRISTINA: Some girls just can't orgasm through sex and some only orgasm in certain positions. I have to be in a certain position to orgasm.
MONIQUE: I can in any position. I'm lucky.
CHRISTINA: And if you do it in the same position, it becomes mundane. If you have sex just to orgasm then you end up doing the same routine every time, which gets boring.

DRESSING UP
MONIQUE: I've dressed as a nurse and a secretary. It's OK, but you feel a bit slutty and you have to really make an effort. It's nice to see their reaction.
CHRISTINA: I like it because I feel more sexy when I dress up. You can be a lot more adventurous and do things that you normally wouldn't do. I suppose it's a bit like role play.
MONIQUE: I have more confidence when I dress up.

SPIT OR SWALLOW
CHRISTINA: I swallow because it's rude to spit. I'd be quite offended if a guy did that to me. In one shot it's a third of your daily allowance in protein – and since I'm vegetarian, that's good.
MONIQUE: I swallow too. I'd be scared if I pulled away at the wrong moment and he came in my face!

ONE-NIGHT STANDS
CHRISTINA: Mine have been with friends so does that count.
MONIQUE: It can be awkward when you don't know each other. One time in particular I don't remember that much about. I just remember waking up with my skirt down below my waist. Classy.
CHRISTINA: One-night stands are OK. I wouldn't go out purposely looking for one, though.

SEX TOYS
CHRISTINA: I've tried them and I like them. I have Rampant Rabbits, little ones – and a clit kit.
MONIQUE: I've got some beads but I've never used them.
CHRISTINA: I've heard some horror stories about them. I have a sparkly vibrator. They're different and I like them because I'm in control.
MONIQUE: I use it if I'm a bit low but feeling horny.

'The car steamed up – anyone could've been walking past!'

BOOBS ON THE BOX

Britain's only naked TV guide with SIMON DEAN

TODAY

Horror Channel, 2.45am, Class of Nuke 'Em High – One for the insomniacs among you, but well worth the effort of staying awake to see Janelle Brady's fine, pert boobs just nine minutes in.
Sky Crime, 1.35am, City of God – Liz Padovani supplies the teatlage in this Brazilian drama at around 12 minutes.

TOMORROW

Film4, 11.10pm, Stripes – Loads of blart in this classic comedy. Look out for PJ Soles at 1hr 45. Minge, too.
Movie Mix, 9pm, Hollow Man 2 – Zara Taylor shows off her splendid breasts at just 18 minutes.
Movies4Men, 10.40pm, The Pornographer – This channel seem to have bought the rights to show this movie repeatedly. Worth watching for Monique Parent's boobs at 52 minutes and nothing else.

TUESDAY

ITV2, 10pm, Knocked Up – Stormy Daniels as the stripper (below) is the highlight at 1hr 27.

Film4, 1.20am, The Lookout – As with all French films, there is nudity of the highest order. Geraldine Martineau provides boobs, bum and bush. Mon Dieu! I have spilled my seed!

WEDNESDAY

Film4, 11.25pm, Wild Things – Fine bit of erotic thriller with Neve Campbell and Denise Richards in some lesbian clinching. If you don't rip the end clean off, there is something very wrong.
Sky Comedy, 2am, American Pie 2 – Lisa Arturo and Denise Faye do some wonderful two-girl groping at 54 minutes. You've probably seen it before, but who's counting?
Sky Comedy, 3.50am, Boat Trip – Absolutely capsizing with big, bouncy knockers. Too many to list. Just put down the newspaper and chill the Stork margarine.

THURSDAY

Movie Mix, 11.15pm, Starship Troopers 3 – Cecile Breccia, Nicole Tupper and Tanya van Graan disrobe for a no-doubt galactically-important reason at 1 hr 7 mins.
Sky Comedy, 11.55pm, Wedding Crashers – An absolute festival of fornication with all the attendant nudity that involves. Watch out for Rachel Sterling's whoppers at 13 minutes.

FRIDAY

BBC1, 12.25am, Ruthless People – Very brief look at Jeannine Bisignano's chestibules as she plays "hooker in blackmail video" at 41 and 49 minutes in this very 80s black comedy.
E4, 9pm, Cocktail – I couldn't recall toplessness when I saw this at the pictures, but there's heavy side-tot from Elisabeth Shue at 52 mins.
Horror Channel, 9pm, Messengers 2: The Scarecrow – Tucked away on this obscure Freeview channel, you get to see one of the finest displays of nudity this week. Darcy Fowers at 27 minutes (below) – fine teats, being hosed down by a sprinkler. Ba-doing!!!

Horror Channel, 1.05am, The Loved Ones – Gorgeous, gorgeous teats on Victoria Thaine and they are on display just five minutes in. A quick watch, a release over the thumb and off to bed. Perfect.

Welcome to the world famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice or experience of our own Agony Angels! This week Jemma Henley has been reading your letters. Here's her advice...

Dear Jemma,

I WORK in a pet shop and a couple of weeks ago a man came in just as I was locking up.

He said he was interested in buying a large, exotic snake. But after a while it was HIS snake that I started to show an interest in!

I noticed a bulge developing in his trousers as he seemed to be turned on by my sales patter.

But I carried on and he slipped his hand into his pocket and I could see him kneading himself.

I was getting a bit excited myself by that time so I told him that he would better understand if I showed him a few reptiles.

I led him to my back room but I guess he must have twigged what I had in mind.

As soon as I'd closed the door behind us he unzipped his pants and brought out the most amazing trouser-snake I've ever seen.

It must have been at least 10 inches long and a good three inches in girth.

I bent over a table and he was soon thrusting away at me with his monster cock.

I could feel an orgasm welling up inside me as he pounded away and I let out a squeal of delight as my dam burst.

He promised he'd come back the next day to pick up his pet snake – but he never returned.

Do you think I put him off by making myself such an easy lay?

AS, south London

Jemma says

YOU were a bit keen. And it seems your snake charmer is now HISStory.

Top DIY skills get me into MILF's drawers

Dear Jemma,

I'M a single guy of 27 who recently moved in to a new house.

A couple of days after I moved in, a woman who lives across the road came knocking at my door.

She seemed upset and said her vacuum cleaner had broken so I got my toolbox and followed her.

When we got there she broke down and told me her husband had walked out on her.

She was in her early 40s and attractive with a shapely figure.

Anyway, I fixed the vacuum and asked if she had any other jobs that needed doing.

Jammed

She replied that there was a bit of a problem in the bedroom and showed me a wardrobe door which had jammed completely shut.

I got my screwdriver out and soon had it free.

But as it swung open a pile of saucy undies tumbled out.

She blushed but I complimented her on the sexy gear and said cheekily that I bet she looked great in them.

To my surprise and delight she told me to cover my eyes. And a few minutes later when I opened them she was standing in front of me in a basque with stockings, sussies and stilettos.

I got a twitch in my pants and she wasted no time getting my trousers off and wrapping her lips around my dick.

She soon guided my rigid tool into her and slid gently up and down its throbbing length. After a few minutes I erupted deep inside her as she squealed in delight.

We must have had about five shags and I was completely knackered.

But since then she's blanked me.

Do you think I failed to satisfy her?

GD, Beds

Jemma says

NO way. Go over there and ask if you can do anything else for her – like kick her back doors in, maybe!

Letter of the day

Dear Jemma,

I'M a 28-year-old single man and I have a fetish for women's panties.

After a night's boozing I strip bollock-naked and put them on to walk around my bedroom and masturbate.

But a couple of weeks ago I met a lovely lass and we've had a couple of hot dates.

We get on really well and have enjoyed some heavy petting – but nothing too serious yet.

She wants to come back to my flat but I'm terrified she'll leg it when she sees my knicker collection.

What can I do?

ML, North Yorks

Jemma says

MAKE sure she does not find out.

Dear Jemma,

MY girlfriend and I are due to get married this summer and one night last week we were making plans when I asked, half jokingly, if she had any skeletons in her closet.

I couldn't believe it when she told me that she used to make porn films for a living!

She then showed me a clip online that shows her sucking cocks, being taken from behind and getting it up the arse.

She explained to me that she was only 19 when she made the films and she hasn't made any since she's been with me.

But I can't get the images out of my mind and I don't think I can go through with the wedding.

Please help!

FD, Essex

Jemma says

SURELY the sex is good?

Dear Jemma,

I AM a huge Tolkien fan and recently me and the missus have started playing a game in the bedroom that we like to call "Sting The Rings".

I dress up like the Hobbit and read to her from Lord Of The Rings while I finger her.

It gets her really moist and it's not long before she's begging me to fk her up the arse.

So I shove my hard cock up her rear end, pounding away until I release my man-milk.

The problem is, she's now told all of her mates and they keep ringing me up at work, wanting to hear my "dirty" voice.

This is now causing problems with my boss.

What should I do?

JR, Kent

Jemma says

TELL them to ring you at home.

THE Scottish National Party would have us believe once they come to power on the coat tails of Mr Miliband's Labour Party, and begin screwing the bawbees from the rich lairds, all will be well in the land.

This, no doubt, would include NHS nurses in skimpies doing 'personal services' for patients.

But this, of course, is financial and economic madness. Miss Sturgeon may promise handjobs on the NHS but eventually the money will run out and we shall be forced to eat rats while marauding Scots steal our turnips.

FINGERING MISS NICKED FOR SHAGGING SECOND PUPIL

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A MATHS teacher has been accused of having sex with an underage pupil – a month after she was arrested for letting another lad rub her 34EE breasts.

Kaitlyn Granado, 24, was first arrested on March 19 for having an "inappropriate relationship" with a 15-year-old student, and was released on bail.

Now she has been arrested again after another pupil, also aged 15, accused her of having sex with him on two consecutive nights.

The teen claims the sex took place in her car late at night on January 18 and 19 opposite another school.

In a police interview after the March 19 arrest, she admitted kissing the pupil, allowing him to touch her breasts and allowing him to finger her.

Affair

She was subsequently suspended from her job at MacArthur High School in Irving, Texas, and has been put on administrative leave.

At the time, officers said they didn't think she'd had a relationship with any other pupils.

But just days later, on March 24, cops quizzed a second boy about a possible affair with her.

A police spokesman said: "There was some discussion, some rumour, there may have been a second person involved.

"That information came from within the school – and it turned out to be true."

Granado was booked into Irving County Jail for the second time and released after posting a £30,000 bail."

HE LOVES RUGBY: Stuart Pearce

PSYCHO'S A LEAGUE FANATIC

RUGBY LEAGUE

RUGBY league has found an unexpected cheerleader in former Nottingham Forest and England star Stuart Pearce.

He said the sport deserves a greater profile beyond its traditional heartlands.

Pearce, 52, became a fan of the sport on the back of his friendship with Warrington coach Tony Smith.

The relegation of London Broncos last season means there is no Super League representation in England outside of Yorkshire and the north west.

"It's a wonderful sport, full of action," Pearce said.

"It's very physical with a great deal of talent intermingled in all of that, but enjoys almost no profile in the south of England.

"Whenever I attend matches, I get the feeling in boardrooms or with the supporters that it's a working-class sport and an open sport.

"It's good to see the fans rub shoulders and it's a wonderful sport for that."

Despite the Broncos losing their top-flight status, there is a growing amateur scene in the south, as well as professional clubs London Skolars, Hemel Stags, Coventry Bears and Gloucestershire All-Golds.

BIG PAL: Tony Smith

Footsteps

Although Super League side Catalans Dragons are also not within the 'M62 corridor', their home city of Perpignan is within a region of France has long been a stronghold for the 13-man code.

Pearce met Australian Smith when he gave a talk on the Uefa Pro-Licence course, where he followed in the footsteps of Leeds Rhinos head coach Brian McDermott and England cricket coach Peter Moores.

The two then visited each other's respective clubs - Pearce watched Warrington train and while Smith did likewise with England and Nottingham Forest.

"Every modern day coach tries to do that," said Pearce, who has also spent time with Stuart Lancaster and England's rugby union side.

"The door gets opened for your pretty readily — other sports are happy to sit with another coach from another sport to try to learn what they can.

"The one thing I have got is the openness to open the door for other people to come into the working environment that I have created."

Pearce's managerial sacking by Nottingham Forest in February ended the most recent stint of his coaching career.

However he said there "is no animosity" between himself and a club he served with distinction as a player between 1985 and 1997.

"I'm not the sort of individual who sits and sulks and moans about it," Pearce said. "I get on, I travel, I work in the media, I do various things.

"If an opportunity comes up for me in football all well and good, but if not I'll carry on doing the bits and pieces I'm doing."

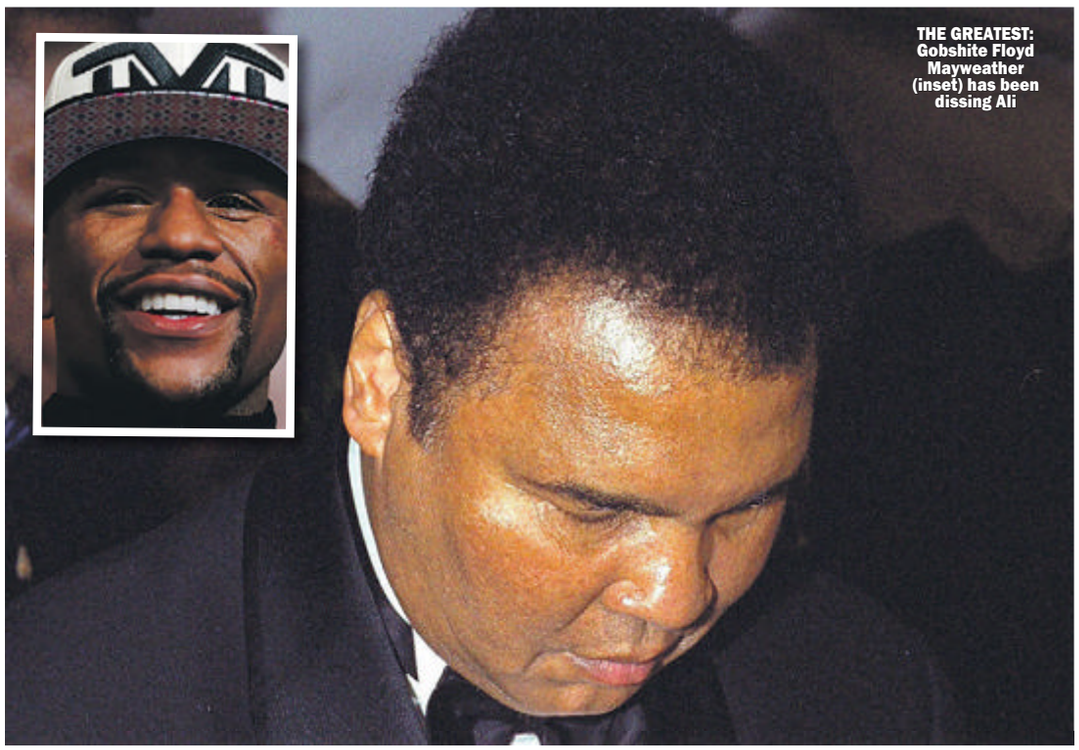
STEVE LILLIS' KNOCKOUT BOXING COLUMN



THE GREATEST: Gobshite Floyd Mayweather (inset) has been dissing Ali

ANGER AS FLOYD TRASHES ALI

FLOYD MAYWEATHER has infuriated boxing fans ahead of his richest fight of all time against Manny Pacquiao by trashing the huge achievements of Muhammad Ali.

Motormouth Mayweather's welterweight clash against his Filipino rival in Las Vegas on Saturday is likely to gross $300 million with the money split 60-40 in the American's favour.

It dwarves money trousered by Ali during his glorious heavyweight reigns in the 1960s and 1970s when he was the most recognised face in the world.

'Money' Mayweather, the world's highest earning sportsman said: "No one can ever brainwash me to make me believe that Muhammad Ali was better than me.

Advantage

"Nobody could ever make me believe that."

Five weight champion Mayweather has won world title from super-featherweight to light-middleweight.

And he believes that achievement gives him one advantage over Ali who now suffers from Parkinson's Disease.

He also slammed Ali's famous rope-a-dope tactics during his epic win over George Foreman, and his 1978 loss against Leon Spinks who was only having his eighth fight.

Mayweather, 38, snapped: "Leon Spinks beat him when he had seven fights. They'd never put a fighter in there with Floyd Mayweather with seven fights.

"Tell me a fighter that could beat me with seven fights?"

The 'Rumble in the Jungle' against Foreman in the 1974 is arguably the most famous fight in history with Ali inviting pressure before knocking out the feared puncher.

"So you going tell me that it is cool to lay on the ropes and take punishment and let a man tire himself out from beating you and then he basically fatigued? Floyd added.

"You hit him with a few punches and he goes down and quit, and you want to be glorified for that?"

Despite being unbeaten 47 fights, Mayweather has never had the competition Ali fought in his 61-fight career.

Ali had rivals like Foreman, Joe Frazier, Sonny Liston and Ken Norton to earn his stripes.

Mayweather's best wins have come against men like Saul Alvarez, Ricky Hatton, Shane Mosley and Oscar de la Hoya.

If he beats Pacman at the MGM Grand Garden it would top the lot for Mayweather, who is talking of retiring after his 50th fight in September.

He claimed: "My last fight is in September. I don't enjoy it as I once did. It is at a point where it is business. It is my job.

"I go to the gym, I train. I know what I have to do. There was a time when it was fun but I am to a point now where I'm over all of that stuff."

Few believe Mayweather who earns £20m for routine fights will retire while his unbeaten record stands.

Plenty of people believe Pacquiao can inflict that first defeat, but don't bet against Mayweather having a huge lead at the end of 12 rounds.

THEOPHANE BINS OFF BRITAIN

LONDONER Ashley Theophane admits that he is ready to turn his back on Britain for good.

The former British light-welterweight champions is promoted by Floyd Mayweather, and his last five fights have taken place in the United States.

Although he still lives in London, and is a regular at Tottenham matches, Theophane trains in Las Vegas at Mayweather's gym.

Theophane, 34, said: "Fighting in the UK again is not on my mind. I did what I did there. I'd be happy never to fight there again.

"I wasn't appreciated when I was there so I've nothing to prove. I've always enjoyed fighting abroad more than fighting at home anyway.

"America has shown me love ever since I came here 10 years ago and I'm with a great team now so I'm making the most of the final years of my career."

Theophane who has won 37 of his 44 fights faces Mahonri Montes in Las Vegas on Thursday night.

WETHERBY ON THE FLAT

Going: Good (good to firm in places)

TODAY sees the first ever Flat racing at Wetherby, which has been long established as a jumps venue.

With that in mind, there is no information about top jockeys and top trainers as there hasn't been a meeting there before.

The track itself is turf, left-handed and should be fairly galloping, although there are fairly tight turns at either end.

There is a turn early on in races over 5f110yd so you would expect a rails draw would be an advantage.

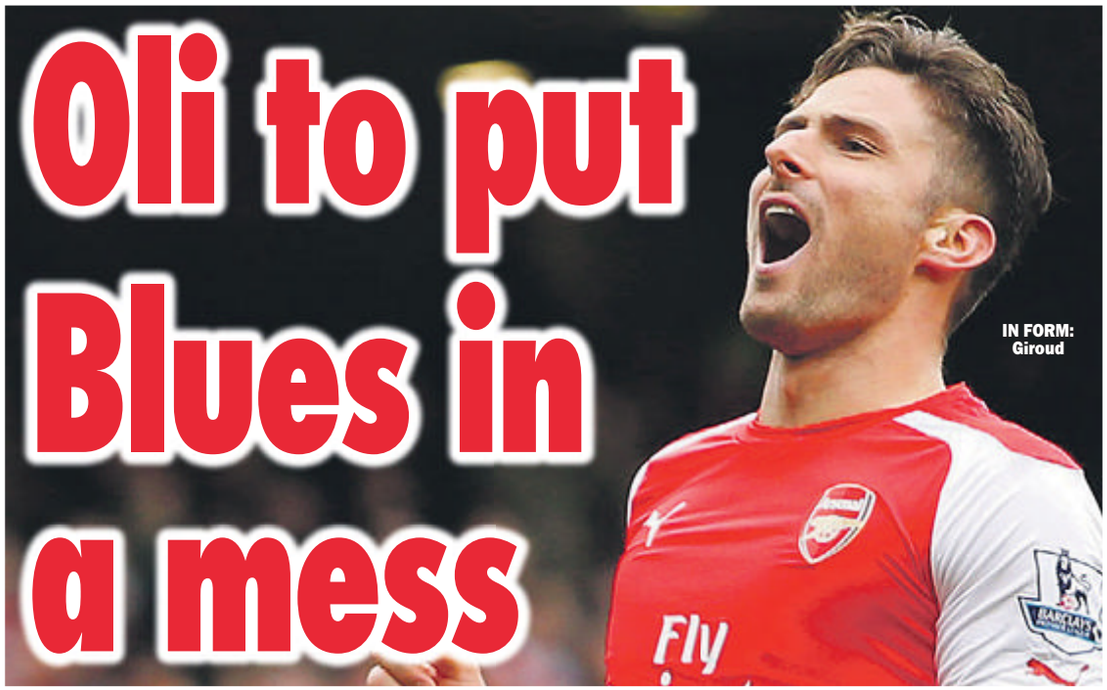
Oli to put Blues in a mess



IN FORM: Giroud

ARSENAL v CHELSEA: 4PM, SKY SPORTS 1

UNLUCKY 13 for Chelsea? It will need to be if Arsene Wenger is to put one over on Jose Mourinho's blues.

On each of the 12 occasions since 2004 that these siders have clashed Wenger has never emerged victorious.

Most embarrassing was the 6-0 thrashing the Stamford Bridge outfit administered in March 2014.

Referee Andre Marriner mistakenly sent off Kieran Gibbs instead of Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain as Arsenal simply capitulated in Wenger's 1,000th match in charge.

The corresponding fixture last October was much less painful with Arsenal going down 2-0.

Wenger shoved Mourinho as their long-running feud turned physical.

The Portuguese played down the incident immediately after the win, through an Eden Hazard penalty and Diego Costa strike, but later said he would have been given a stadium ban had he been the perpetrator of the push.

So no love lost and Arsenal simply must win if they are to retain any hope of overhauling their rivals at the top of the table.

The gap is 10 points with six matches to go.

Arsenal are the value at a best price 29/20 with Ladbrokes with both Chelsea and the draw 23/10 generally.

Olivier Giroud has scored 10 goals in his last 12 matches in all competitions.

He is a fair 9/4 with bwin to net at ant time and 6/1 with BetVictor and Coral to get the first one.

Cesc Fabregas has a league-high 16 Premier League assists this season.

Only Thierry Henry (20 in 2002-03), Frank Lampard (18 in 2004-05) and Fabregas himself (17 in 2007-08) have ever registered more in a single Premier League campaign.

Didier Drogba has scored eight times in 11 Premier League appearances against Arsenal in his career.

Against no team has he scored more in the division (also scored eight vs WBA).

The match specials which make some appeal are John Terry to score with a header at any time at 16/1 with Paddy Power.

He does get a few.

And if it gets a bit fiesty, the 33/1 with the same firm for Terry to be sent off looks to be sent off.

The early game is Everton v Man Utd and if to fancy the away teams to be triumphant it's best to go with Coral. They are offering 10/1 with the promise of a free bet if you get it wrong.

Mourinho is certainly the boss for the big occasion.

In 11 games involving the current top four, he was won six and drawn five.

But this time we think the records will tumble today and reckon you would be wrong. We will side with the Arse.

Fancy

If the season had started on January 1, they would be sitting pretty at the top with 33 points — a cracking record in 2015.

They are a shade over 3/1 with BetVictor to be ahead at half-time and full-time.

The correct score we fancy is 2-1 which is generally available at 9/1. For Chelsea fans, a reversal of that score is a rather generous 12/1 with Bet365.

BETS: Arsenal to win 2-1 (9/1); Giroud to score anytime (9/4); Terry headed goal (16/1).

EVERTON v MAN UNITED: 1.30PM, SKY SPORTS 1

THE Reds are a confident bet to chew up the Toffees in today's lunchtime clash.

United have suffered a defeat in each of their last two Premier League trips to Goodison Park (1-0 in Aug 2012 and 2-0 in Apr 2014).

But they have not lost three successive away games in the league against Everton since September 1987 (four successive defeats at Goodison).

The Old Trafford side have surprisingly won just three of their last nine road trips, drawing four and losing a couple.

But Everton are pretty awful on home soil and have surrendered more points from winning positions than any other Premier League side this campaign (19).

FALCAO: Too short

You can get 6/5 generally about United while Everton are 11/4 and the draw trades at 5/2.

There probably won't be too much in it so 2-0 is the correct score prediction. You can have a healthy 7/1 from bet365.

If you take Everton to nick it 1-0 the 10-/1 with BetVictor is reasonable.

Radmael Falcao hasn't scored in his last eight Premier League games so it's hard to understand why he is 6/1 to score first his team-mate Angel Di Maria is 10/1.

BETS: United to win 2-0 (7/1); Di Maria to score first (10/1).

Bookies to Skate on

HENLOW have a quality card tonight featuring some top-class open-races and I think I've found us some nice bets so we can take even more cash off those bookmakers.

I'm going 'NAPTASTIC' Skate On in the final of the Super Sprint worth £1,000 to-the-winner.

Liz McNair's bitch must be one of the best sprinters to grace UK tracks in recent years and she can collect another nice prize in the twilight of her career.

Drawn in trap three I expect her to blast out and take this final by the scruff of the neck from the get-go.

I'm genuinely excited for her to finish her career because she is one of the most exciting breeding prospects I've seen and surely a glittering career in the breeding paddocks awaits.

Ilewin Allot can score in the 428m event for champion trainer Mark Wallis. He tried his hand at sprinting and was far from disgraced behind Skate On and Target Harris.

I feel he is far more dangerous at this kind of distance because he is likely to dominate from trap rise.

I fancy Mark Wallis to have a big night and he can score also with the prolific Blue Moment. I'm a massive fan of this son of Ninja Jamie and feel he is somewhat underrated which we can latch on to.

Midway Nick seems to have been around for ages and he's often mixed it at the highest level of the UK staying scene. If he can get around the first couple of bends unscathed he will surely prove too strong close home for his rivals tonight.

HENLOW BEST BETS TONIGHT

NAP - T3 Skate On 21.00
NB - T4 Ilewin Allot 20.15
TREBLE - T4 Blue Moment 20.45
YANKEE - T1 Midway Nick 21.15

IT'S MERV PAYNE WITH A FAN'S VIEW OF THE FOOTIE WEEK

FC United a big example to all

FC UNITED of Manchester completed a remarkable rise this week, winning the Evo Stik Premier League title after four previous failed attempts via the play-offs to take their place in the Conference North, just two promotions away from the Football League.

The fan-powered club have only been around for 10 years and employed just ONE manager in Karl Marginson.

They still operate the 'pay what you can afford' season ticket scheme and have raised funds themselves to build a brand new stadium which will be officially opened by the visit of Benfica next month.

They are the polar opposite not just of their Old Trafford forefathers but of pretty much half the Football League.

Whether they can keep it up or not will now be severely scrutinised at a much more competitive level but what a fantastic story to keep your faith in the game.

One of the funniest sights of the week was watching Bayern Munich striker Thomas Muller leading the fan celebrations of his team's 6-1 thumping of Porto with a megaphone. I guess the English equivalent (were any of our teams capable of making a Champions League semi again) would be to hand out balloons filled with laughing gas.

TICKET TO PRIDE

DO clubs really listen to their fans? West Ham were the first club to reduce season ticket prices, announcing the cut to reflect the new £5bn TV deal in time for their inaugural 2016-2017 season at the new Olympic Stadium.

Elsewhere, one of many Premier League clubs yet to commit to whether or not they would be reducing prices is, interestingly, Crystal Palace.

Yes, the same Crystal Palace whose 'Ultra' fans with their huge protest banners about ticket prices and incessant continental-style chanting turn every home game into a particularly annoying bout of tinnitus.

If chairman Steve Parrish hasn't got the hint yet, he never will.

It's agonising enough being a Millwall supporter right now, but the Football League have really rubbed salt into our relegation wound with their dallying over the Rotherham ineligible player decision. Surely there is a standard punishment that can be dished out as soon as soon as a club is proved to have broken the rules? As they say, it's the hope that kills you...

MERV'S FACT HUNT

Last week I asked: Which four Scotsmen were UEFA European Cup/Champions League highest goalscorers?

The answer was: Denis Law (Manchester United, 1968-69), Lou Macari (Celtic 1971-72), Graeme Souness (Liverpool 1980-81) and Ally McCoist (Rangers 1987-88).

This week's Fact Hunt is: Which three Welshmen have won Premier League medals? Answer next week...

CHARLIE McCANN

WITH HIS SPORTING ODDS AND ENDS

No way Jose is losing to Weng

JOSE Mourinho has never lost to Arsene Wenger and he will be out to maintain his unbeaten record when he takes his Chelsea side to the Emirates later today.

One incredible stat from our friends at Opta Chelsea have scored first in every one of their 20 competitive games in 2015 and BetVictor make the Gunners 5/6 to score the opening goal later today and 9/1 that there are no goals.

Whatever your thoughts on the game I think the 9/1 is too big with Mourinho likely to park the bus and try and hit Arsenal on the break.

In Eden Hazard Chelsea have the best player in the PL (1/12 to be voted PFA Player of the Year) and the Belgian is 15/2 to score the opening goal and 27/10 to find the back of the net at anytime during the 90 minutes.

Hazard scored the only goal of the game against United at the Bridge last weekend and is 45/1 to score the only goal of the game this afternoon.

Everton entertain Man United in the early kick off; I thought United were unfortunate not to come away from Stamford Bridge with at least a point last weekend, having controlled the game for long periods.

The Blues have picked up the results in recent weeks but their performances have still not reached the heights of last season and I think they will struggle to break down this much-improved United side. Everton are 27/10 at BetVictor with United 6/5 and the draw at 12/5.

The Blues have beaten United in their last two games at Goodison but overall it has been a very good ground for the Red Devils. Everton are likely to welcome Romelu Lukaku back and he is the only one of four penalty takers not to have missed for the Blues this season with Ross Barkley the latest to miss from the spot against Burnley last week.

Wayne Rooney will get his usual warm reception back at Goodison and is 11/2 to score the opening goal, 9/5 to score at anytime and 5/1 to be named Man of the Match. I think United will just shade it and recommend the 17/2 at BetVictor for a 2-1 United win.

★ Wetherby stages its first ever flat card this afternoon and I hope WARDAT DUBAI (2.35) can build on her two promising starts as a juvenile for Barry Hills whose son Charlie was less than complimentary about the state of the ground at Sandown on Friday when the times suggested the ground was slower than the official description of good.

Jack Hobbs went to the wicket at Sandown on Friday with a lofty reputation having done everything wrong but still coming home clear at Wolverhampton on his sole start as a juvenile back in December.

Trained by John Gosden the colt turned a competitive looking handicap into a procession at the Esher track and he is into 10/1 for the Derby with BetVictor and with John F Kennedy, Sir Isaac Newton and Christophermarlowe also likely to be in the field the race is looking more like a who's who than the premier colts' classic.

CHERRIES RIPE FOR PREMIER

Bournemouth v Bolton Wanderers

Monday, 7.45pm, live on Sky Sports 1

PROMOTION chasing Bournemouth have been hit with a telly ban all this weekend to stop them discovering their rivals' scores.

The Sunday papers are out too.

Cherries' defender Adam Smith says the squad want to go into tomorrow's home game with heads uncluttered by mathematical permutations.

Bournemouth were one point behind Watford before yesterday's games and led Middlesbrough only on goal difference.

He said: "I won't be watching the TV or football results. There is no point putting yourself through that.

"We've just got to focus on us and win those final two games — the last is against Charlton.

It's too stressful, I'll get out and do something with the lads and won't look at the scores.

Manager Eddie Howe echoed Smith's approach: "I won't be doing that, and I don't expect my players to be doing that.

"Our perspective is very clear, we are focusing on Bolton I don't think that changes at all regarding other results.

Penalty

"Whether it's an advantage or a disadvantage to play on a Monday night who knows?"

The Cherries dropped two points in their 2-2 draw against Sheffield Wednesday after Smith conceded a injury-time penalty.

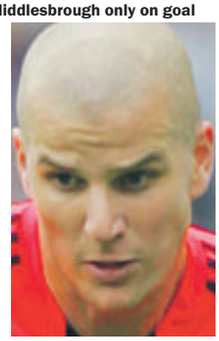
However the right-back said he was over the mistake while Howe said the squad had not been affected by the result.

"When it happened I could not believe it," 23-year-old Smith said.

"I was upset to do that to the team and let myself down. I'm just looking forward to Monday to put it right."

Howe added: "In disappointment we still had to reflect it was in our hands.

"Nothing had changed from that perspective, in fact there was a game less so in some senses we are in a better position."



RETIRING: Tierney

Wanderers' full-back Marc Tierney has announced his retirement aged 29 because of an ankle injury.

Tierney suffered a broken bone and ligament damage during a game against Yeovil in 2013 and has since undergone four operations.

He played in the Premier League for Norwich and also had spells with Oldham, Shrewsbury and Colchester.

"It's obviously very disappointing, but I've got some great memories from my time as a player," said Tierney.

"The club have been kind enough to allow me to still come in for physio, so my treatment is still ongoing.

"I want to get to the point where it doesn't affect me in my normal life — a recreational ankle if you will."

ALL THE CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH ACTION

Birmingham 1
Charlton 0

LLOYD Dyer secured all three points for the home side in a completely forgettable encounter at St Andrew's.

Blues were the better side for the most past and might have taken an early lead had Robert Tesche taken a solid chance.

Diego Fabbrini missed an absolute sitter from just six yards out after being teed up by Demari Gray.

Charlton came into things a little more in the second-half but Dyer settled matters with a shot from a tight angle. Both sides are firmly placed in midtable.

Cardiff 3
Blackpool 2

RELEGATED Blackpool end the season winless away.

Joe Mason's low finish fired midtable Cardiff ahead, before Eoin Doyle doubled their lead from the penalty spot.

Former Swansea City player Andrea Orlandi's thoughtful long-range effort gave Blackpool hope.

But Doyle added his second from the spot to seal the points before Peter Clarke grabbed a late consolation goal.

City will probably be disappointed to only finish 13th. But not as sorry as the lads from the North Pier.

Huddersfield 2
Blackburn 2

THE Terriers were like a dog with a bone as Town stretched their unbeaten run to six league games with a comeback draw against Gary Bowyer's side.

Joe Lolley fired in a sizzler Huddersfield Town to complete a comeback from two down and earn his side a deserved point.

Blackburn's top scorer Rudy Gestede and former Town favourite Jordan Rhodes struck in the space of five minutes in the first half.

But Jacob Butterfield pulled one back before the break and substitute Lolley levelled in the 84th minute.

Ipswich Town 2
Nottm Forest 1

TRACTOR boys are purring.

Ipswich moved up to fifth-place in the Championship with a nervy victory over Nottingham Forest to put themselves on the brink of the play-offs.

Daryl Murphy scored his 25th league goal of the season as he drilled the ball into the the net after good work in the box from Freddie Sears.

Forest equalised when defender Christophe Berra put own-goaled nine minutes into the second-half.

But, Sears' deflected shot beat Karl Darlow to give Ipswich a vital win.

BORO FUL OF TROUBLE

Fulham 4
Middlesbro 3

MIDDLESBROUGH are left with an automatic-promotion mountain to climb after losing a seven-goal epic at Craven Cottage.

Boro were punished for a stoppage time goalkeeper clanger as they went down.

The Teessiders had been on the backfoot all day.

They clawed back to be level after trailing by two goals and having George Friend sent off when late on they won a corner and Dimi Konstantopoulos went forward to join the attack.

But the ball was pumped clear leaving the keeper desperately trying to scramble back as Ross McCormack broke free to slot the winner into an empty net.

Michael Turner had headed Fulham into a 1-0 lead in first-half stoppage time before on 55 minutes McCormack made it two via a blatant penalty that was well converted.

Adam Reach put Boro back in it on 62 minutes with a well-placed strike that gave the keeper little chance.

Soon after Friend chopped down Rodellaga and McCormack hit a second spot kick to make it 3-1.

Goals from Ayala and Kike hauled Boro back but then came the fun-time finale that has put a knife into the heart of their Premier League hopes.

Wat a result!

HORNETS PROMOTED TO PREMIER

Brighton 0
Watford 2

WATFORD have been promoted to the Premier League for the first time since going down 15 years ago.

They got the three points they needed for promotion courtesy of a 2-0 away win against Brighton.

It was a hard-fought success but deserved as they weathered the occasional storm, scored, created again and held on to their lead.

Brighton started well and Chris O'Grady could have opened the scoring with just a minute on the clock. But, put in by wing-back Joe Bennett, he took a needless extra touch from 11 yards out and his shot was blocked.

He returned the favour on nine minutes creating a chance for Bennett via Mustapha Carayol.

For a side fully 39 points ahead of their hosts at kick-off, Watford displayed nerves.

But those were settled on 28 minutes when the Hornets' talisman Troy Deeney banged in the opener and his 21st of the season from a frantic scramble in the Albion box. Brighton lost count of the amount of times they had the chance to clear in and around their own box.

But, fittingly for all Quadrophenia fans from the film set in the seaside town, they played pinball wizards. It fell to Deeney. There was no tilt.

Brighton made only modest threats after the break as Watford sat back and held on to what they had taken.

But Craig Mikael-Smith should have had a penalty and Watford should have been down to 10 men when Connolly yanked the Brighton sub back inside the area with a shot begging.

Deeney's physical ability posed problems for the Seagulls all afternoon and he looked threatening every time they moved forward.

It got hellish fiesty and a few players wouldn't have not had cause for complaint if they saw red.

But the only stat that counted was doubled in the final minute of injury time.

The workhorse Deeney fed Matej Vydra who wasted no time hammering a left-footed shot into the corner of the net.

It was a clever away win by Watford against a Brighton side which at times looked short of ideas but not short of effort.

MOR SCORE SINKS OWLS

Sheffield Wed 1
Leeds United 2

LEEDS battled back from the disappointment of conceding an early penalty to secure a 2-1 win at neighbours Sheffield Wednesday.

United's form has been up and down like a whore's drawers throughout this season and they must have feared the worst early on when they fell behind.

They looked booked for their sixth defeat on the trot when the Owls went in front thanks to a 36th minute penalty by Chris Maguire, the Scot's second spot-kick in as many outings.

But Leeds battled back and gained sweet revenge for a 6-0 hammering at Hillsborough last year through well timed second-half strikes by Charlie Taylor and Steve Morison.

It was no more than United deserved.

They played the better football — for much of the game — and created the better chances.

There was only local pride at stake with dreams of play-offs and fears of relegation long gone for either side.

Yorkshire bragging rights go to Elland Road though today. The Owls' home worries show no sign of ending.

They have won just twice in their own backyard in 11 attempts in 2015.

Massive credit to both sets of fans, the minute's silence to observe the anniversary of the Bradford City fire was impeccably observed by two sets of fans who could (reasonably) be considered local rivals. Fair play, lads.

WINNER: Morison

Millwall 3
Derby County 3

MILLWALL'S cling to survival by fingernails after letting a 3-1 lead slip to draw with Derby.

Lee Gregory scored twice, the second a penalty, to put Millwall 2-0 up but Tom Ince's free-kick reduced things.

Gregory's second spot-kick, after Jeff Hendrick's foul, completed the striker's hat-trick.

But Chris Martin scored from the spot after Ince was fouled by Aiden O'Brien and Hendrick's superb volley sealed a point for Derby.

Millwall will still be relegated if Rotherham beat Reading on Tuesday.

Reading 0
Brentford 2

BRENTFORD kept alive their slender Championship play-off hopes with a 2-0 win at Reading — a first victory in five matches.

Alan Judge volleyed home to give the Bees a half-time lead and central defender James Tarkowski nodded in a free-kick midway through the second half to seal it.

To reach the play-offs, Brentford need to defeat Wigan at Griffin Park next Saturday and hope the Ipswich or Derby results go in their favour.

It's a tall order but then so is hero Tarkowski.

Rotherham 1
Norwich City 1

NORWICH's hopes of automatic promotion were dealt kicked up the bum as relegation-threatened Rotherham scored a late equaliser in a cracker.

The Canaries had to play for over an hour with 10 men after Lewis Grabban was sent off yet looked to be heading back into the top two after Gary Hooper's moment of brilliance had put them ahead.

But Jordan Bowery's 86th-minute header earned the Millers a point which keeps them out of the bottom three after Millwall's capitulation in their 3-3 draw against Derby.

Wigan Athletic 0
Wolverhampton 1

BENIK Afobe scored the only goal in the 25th minute completely against the run of play.

Both sides had efforts disallowed for offside.

And ex-West Brom and Liverpool keeper Scott Carson protected the lead as he twice denied Kenny Jackett's side by thwarting Nouha Dicko against his old club and Dave Edwards's header on the break.

Wolves must beat Millwall at home next Saturday for a play-off place and deny midlands rivals Derby, who came from 2-0 down to draw 3-3 at Millwall.

PREMIER LEAGUE: QPR 0 WEST HAM 0

HANDBAGS: Adrian clashes with Austin and Phillips after the penalty miss

Penalty blot

AUSTIN BLOWS CHANCE FROM 12 YARDS

CHARLIE Austin missed a first-half penalty as QPR lost ground in the race to avoid relegation.

By MIKE FRANCIS

Austin's pen was saved by the legs of Adrian following James Collins' handball, while Richard Dunne saw his bundled effort ruled out for a foul on the keeper, leaving the hosts to rue a missed opportunity to grab three valuable points.

The result leaves the Hoops four points adrift of safety, with trips to Manchester City and Liverpool to come in the next two weeks before they host Newcastle in their final home game of the season. These were points dropped against a West Ham team that has now won just twice in 17 games — a huge chance lost.

QPR might have led inside 60 seconds as Matt Phillips nicked the ball off Mark Noble and surged through midfield before feeding Sandro, whose low shot from the angle was beaten away at his near post by Adrian.

A sparky opening to the game then saw West Ham go as close as they would all game as Reece Burke — making his Premier League debut at 18 in the heart of the West Ham defence — then met Matt Jarvis' corner with a well-timed leap only to see his header hacked off the line.

The former West Ham man's first touch was poor, but the ball bounced up and as he tried to lob Adrian, so the ball hit the raised hands of Collins, leaving referee Mike Jones with one of his easiest decisions of the afternoon.

Fragile

Austin's penalty was poor though, struck straight down the middle, allowing Adrian to save his third straight penalty and his miss sapped the belief from the hosts as the game meandered towards half-time — West Ham lacking the quality to expose their fragile opponents.

The hosts, well, just lacked quality.

The Hammers did test Robert Green just after the break, Aaron Cresswell's free-kick forcing a fingertip save from the former England keeper, but their ambition faded thereafter as QPR, led by a rambunctious Barton, searched for the elusive breakthrough.

The Hammers briefly threatened on the break again when Enner Valencia outpaced Dunne for Cheikhou Kouyate, but he ballooned over from 10 yards.

It looks a tough run-in for the Hoops as they try to get out of it.

CHARLIE'S ADAM OFF AGAIN

Stoke City 1
Sunderland 1

SUNDERLAND picked up a well-earned away point — despite another belting goal from Charlie Adam.

The midfielder scored another goal from outside the box to cancel out an opening-minute strike from Connor Wickham.

Sunderland soaked up lots of pressure from the home side and manager Dick Advocaat will be happy with the way his side performed.

The Black Cats dropped into the bottom three thanks to the win for Leicester but they are just one point from safety.

There was no particular shock in the line-ups, with Sunderland winger Adam Johnson left out of the squad after being charged with sexual offences.

Will Buckley took his place with Steven Fletcher dropped and defender Sebastian Coates starting.

Stoke had Peter Odemwingie on the bench for the first time since his knee injury in August.

There was no place for Peter Crouch, with Mame Biram Diouf leading the home line.

Adam's wonderstrike was the highlight of the first period that saw Stoke grow in strength by the minute.

The former Liverpool man is known as a maestro with his left foot but this time used his right peg to smash in a shot from just outside the box, giving Sunderland keeper Costel Pantillimon no chance.

Things could only get better for the Potters after they went a goal down in the opening seconds of a game that the visitors were desperate to win.

Asmir Begovic must have left his brains in the dressing room as he fluffed his lines badly in dropping Will Buckley's cross, giving Connor Wickham his easiest tap-in of the season.

That seemed to spark Stoke into life with Adam and Jonathan Walters both going close in quick succession.

Then Jermain Defoe missed the type of chance the Black Cats brought him in to take when Lee Cattermole played him for a one-on-one chance that he put wide.

It was all Sunderland at the start of the second half with a good chance going begging thanks to Jordi Gomez scuffing a shot when in a clear position.

Then there was another solid opportunity for Defoe but Begovic was more than up to keeping out his close-range effort.

DOUBLE: N'Doye

N'Doye gets it right in the end

Crystal Palace 0
Hull City 2

A DAME N'Doye double boosted Hull's hopes of survival as Palace slumped to their second home spanking inside a week.

N'Doye had been the subject of plenty of stick from the home fans for missing a couple of pretty easy chances inside the opening minutes.

But he shut them firmly up when opening the scoring seven minutes into the second-half.

And he made them choke on their pies by sealing the points for the Tigers in the dying seconds of the match.

Hull are still looking very nervously over their shoulders as they have the run-in from hell.

They sit outside the drop zone but have to play against Liverpool, Arsenal, Tottenham and Manchester United before the season is over.

Form

It almost makes matters worse that their other game left is against Burnley so that will be a six-pointer in every sense of the word.

There might have been more goals for the Yorkshiremen but for the excellent form of home keeper Julian Speroni.

There had been talk in midweek that Palace boss Alan Pardew would sign a new keeper but there's no need if the 35-year-old keeps playing like this.

Palace had their chances to with Glenn Murray wasting a golden chance in the opening minutes from inside the six-yard box.

Then came a bad miss from N'Doye who failed to convert a cross when it would have been easier to score.

He more than made up for that embarrassing cock-up when putting the visitors in the lead.

Robbie Brady provied the Senegal striker with the type of chance it's impossible to miss and he duly tucked it away.

Palace created a good chance for sub Sanogo but the on-loan Arsenal man failed to score.

As Palace pushed forward looking for a late equaliser, N'Doye managed to double the Hull lead.

Gaston Ramirez broke well when a home attack broke down and set up N'Doye for another gilt-edged chance.

PREMIER LEAGUE: SOUTHAMPTON 2 SPURS 2

PELLE POWER

Double can't save Saints as Tottenham fight back

SPURS came back twice from behind to earn a point in an end-to end shoot out which leaves neither side comfortable in a Europa League three-way battle.

But for the neutral it was nothing if not full-bloodied and entertaining.

The hosts struggled early for a kick in the first 10 minutes but bit-by-bit they edged back in and, urged on by a St Mary's crowd desperate to send ex-manager Mauricio Pochettino home empty-handed, they improved.

Quarter of an hour of midfield chess followed until, on 25 minutes, Hugo Lloris produced one of the saves of the season to deny the home side a lead.

James-Ward Prowse had a shot blocked for Southampton but he won a corner which he clipped into the box with precision.

It was a wonderful, training-ground ball in from the right to the expectant Morgan Schneiderlin, who peeled back towards the penalty spot, volleyed hard and low only to see Lloris, low to his left, make a superb stop.

The goal didn't take long and on 28 minutes, Sadio Mane broke well for the Saints but was dispossessed by Federico Fazio.

Ryan Mason recovered a loose ball and seemed safe, but he slipped at a crucial time and, facing his own goal, prodded the ball back towards Ben Davies.

It was short, but Davies hesitated, Graziano Pelle got too close to him. The Italian jabbed out a leg and diverted the ball past Lloris!

By PETER WILLETTS

Spurs looked lost but against the run of play were level just two minutes before the break.

There didn't look much threat on as Eric Dier edged right and Harry Kane flicked on to Lamela, who squeezed it between Kelvin Davis and his left post. It may have came off a hand or a shoulder but it was not intentional and they went in 1-1 at half-time.

The blow-trading continued early in the second half.

No doubts Southampton emerged with a determination they were not going to let a late pre-interval equaliser upset them.

Within nine minutes of the restart Steven Davis missed two great chances but Saints did take the lead again after 65 minutes.

Chance

Mane collected a stray Davies header and ran along the line before finding Long to the right of the area.

Long's first touch of the ball is a high, hard, accurate cross that Pelle, arriving 10 yards out, headed firmly into the net. It gave Lloris no chance whateover and was a superb goal.

Within five minutes Spurs levelled again. It came though Nacer Chadli, his 11th of the season.

He fire home a slide-rule shot from the edge of the box to compete the scoring in an entertaining match.

There were later chances but nothing clear-cut.

Saints can slightly feel aggrieved but it was probably a fair result.

EQUALISER: Chadli

500 GAMES: Gerrard

Gerrard's 500th can't lift flat Reds

West Brom	0
Liverpool	0

ONCE again Liverpool dominated a game they could not kill off.

The first half was one-way traffic as the visitors poured forward.

The one and only Steven Gerrard started making his 500th appearance but even the mighty G couldn't sway it.

Within the first 11 minutes, Raheem Sterling, Mario Balotelli and Phillipe Coutinho all had takeable chances to give the Reds the lead.

All went askew.

Emre Can, Coutinho (another) four, Gerrard, Sterling could all have put Liverpool ahead before the break.

Oh my goodness, how these lads have missed the bit of that Luis Suarez fella this season.

West Brom left to boos on 45 minutes.

Christ alone knows what would have happened to the Baggies' fans minds if Liverpool had taken just a few of the double-figure chances they created.

The second half started in the samer pattern but the Hawthorn's players began to draw frustration from Liverpool.

Sterling was straight back on the ball and taking on the man who fouled him consistently in the first half Dawson.

Frustration

However, Dawson defended well, getting his body between Sterling and the ball and eventually drawing a foul from the attacker.

It was an indication of the frustration to come for Liverpool.

On 55 minutes the Reds were nearly there. Balotelli swivelled and shot in the box — only to see it blocked by McAuley. The ball fell to Coutinho who could only find Myhill's body. Henderson tried to turn in the rebound — but couldn't get his effort through.

Was this ever going to be one of those days?

Yep, it was, actually.

Pool cracked a crossbar before their own cracks started to emerge.

With 25 minutes to go, Lovren had to whack it off the line after Skrtel made a mess of clearing a Clinton Morrison cross and Simon Mignolet could only get a hand to it.

Coutinho and Gerard both came close but couldn't break through.

NOT SO MAGNIFICENT SEVEN

Newcastle	2
Swansea	3

NEWCASTLE copped their seventh defeat on the bounce at a tense St James's Park.

The Toon went into the game looking twitchy, if not totally uncomfortable, seven points ahead of the condemned seats but surely not the worst amongst those haunted by the drop zone.

The Swans, meanwhile have had a good season, drifting majestically into mid-lake.

But the hunger United showed was evident from the start.

They kicked off like a team who needed it, Swansea started as if the brochures were out.

And it showed on the 20th minute — after the poignant rememberance those in black and white stripes always remember of the two fans killed in the Ukraine air disaster.

Lucky goal it was too.

Ayoze Perez punishesd Amat's poor clearance by tapping home from close range.

It was a grreat build-up by Riviere down the left to get a dangerous cross in, but Amat left much to be desired.

But that was the end of the joy for home fans out of joy with players who would not know a Bottle Of Dog (Newcastle Brown Ale for the uninitiated) if it bit them on the arse.

A Club who has betrayed their loyalty. And an owner. Well, watch Channel Four's documentary about Sports Direct next Tuesday.

And sure as hell, Swansea hit back.

And how. Two minutes into injury time Swansea equalised via Nelson Oliveira.

They had only been on the pitch again for four minutes when Sigurdsson put Swansea into the lead with a calm finish after a well-worked moved involving Montero and Oliveira's dummy.

You could sense the unease at St James's Park and they turned to boos when on 72 minutes a smart break by Swansea allowed Oliveira to burst into the right channel before squaring the ball into the area.

The ball went through Williamson's legs and Cork tapped into an open net.

There was some hope for the home faithful when Siem De Jong celebrated his comeback from injuiry with a goal in the dying minutes.

Gonna be a long hard summer for the Toon.

ON TARGET: Oliveira

UNITED TARGET: Ilkay Gundogan

REDS LOAD GUN FOR £21M BID

By MIKE FRANCIS

MANCHESTER United will agree a £21.5m summer deal to sign Borussia Dortmund midfielder Ilkay Gundogan.

Gundogan, 24, is out of contract at the end of the 2015-16 season and Dortmund are thought to be willing to sell to avoid losing him for nothing.

Bayern Munich signed Dortmund's Robert Lewandowski on a free transfer after the Polish striker's contract ran out.

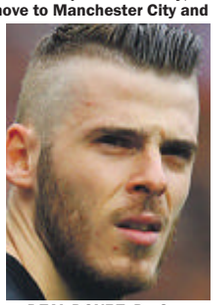
The midfielder, who has won nine caps for Germany, has also been linked with a move to Manchester City and Arsenal but United are now close to wrapping up a deal.

Gundogan began his career with Bochum, before moving to Nuremberg.

Dortmund signed him in May 2011, and he helped them reach the 2012-13 Champions League final.

He scored a penalty in the final against Bayern at Wembley, though Dortmund lost the match 2-1.

He was sidelined for over a year with a mystery back problem which baffled doctors and forced him to miss Germany's World Cup triumph in Brazil.



DEAL DOUBT: De Gea

Impact

Manchester United manager Louis van Gaal stated in February that he wanted to sign a creative midfielder in the summer and Gundogan, who is technically accomplished and a fine passer — as well as a hard tackler — fits the bill.

He was signed by coach Jurgen Klopp — who will leave Dortmund at the end of the season — to replace Real Madrid-bound Nuri Sahin, and he initially struggled to make an impact.

But he made the breakthrough in the 2012-13 season, helping the Bundesliga giants to their first league and cup double, and the final of the Champions League the following season.

He has scored 15 goals in 123 appearances in the Bundesliga, and one goal — that nerveless penalty at Wembley — in 20 Champions League appearances.

Unied's goalie David De Gea has been offered a big pay-rise to stick with the Old Trafford club.

Van Gaal refused to say how much but admitted it was a "a lot of money".

De Gea is in the running for the PFA Player of the Year award after an impressive season but links with Real Madrid have been a recurring theme in recent weeks.

In January Van Gaal said he expected the 24-year-old to extend his current deal, which expires at the end of next season.

But three months on there are no signs of progress.

Van Gaal said: "It can always happen. I am not the boss.

"I want him to stay. The player is the boss — he can say 'yes' or 'no'.

"You will have to ask David de Gea if he is staying, not me.

"He has to sign. We have offered him a lot of money."

PREMIER LEAGUE DOGFIGHT:

MINUTE OF

Burnley go from heroes to zeroes in 60 seconds

By MIKE MURRAY

A MAD 60 seconds looks like it is sending Burnley down to the Championship.

The Clarets were on cloud nine 15 minutes into the second half when ref Anthony Taylor pointed to the penalty spot.

Up stepped Matthew Taylor who hit the spot kick sweetly and sent Kasper Schmeichel the wrong way.

The problem was that his shot clattered into the post and rebounded to safety.

Then things got much, much worse for the home side as Leicester went up the other side and banged in a goal of their own.

There was a massive element of luck in that too as a cross was almost deflected into his own net by Burnley defender Michael Duff.

It was a fantastic effort by keeper Tom Heaton to scoop the ball off the line but there was Jamie Vardy to tap the ball in.

That gave Leicester four top-flight wins in a row since Gordon Banks was in goal — and lifted them out of the Premier League relegation places.

Sean Dyche made two changes to the home side, with Matthew Taylor and Lukas Jutkiewicz coming in for Sam Vokes and the suspended Ashley Barnes.

Defensive

Leicester chief Nigel Perason also shuffled his pack with two new faces compared to the side that swept aside Swansea last week.

Danny Drinkwater and Paul Konchesky are the men who came in as the Foxes boss sent out a more defensive minded side.

That meant no place for Jeffrey Schlupp and Andrej Kramaric for one of the most important games of the season for both teams.

This reporter's pen wasn't in much action during an understandably cagey first period where neither side were too far on the front foot.

There wasn't a lot of goalmouth action with just two strikes on goal in a tepid 45 minutes.

Leonardo Ulloa almost opened the scoring on nine minutes when a cross that was perfectly directed on to his forehead was brilliantly intercepted by Jason Shackell.

Without that, the big striker would surely have nutted the Foxes into a crucial lead.

It was 10 minutes until the next significant goal action when a Jamie Vardy strike brought a regulation save from Heaton.

Up until that point, Leicester had looked the most likely to break the deadlock, despite lining up more defensively than they would at the King Power Stadium.

The tables turned slightly on the half-hour when Kasper Schmeichel was called into action for the first time.

He was on hand to deny Matthew Taylor whose effort looked to be destined for the net until the big Dane intervened.

Leicester came out of the blocks quickly after the break and Esteban Cambiasso cracked a free-kick in a fair position high and not too handsome into the fans behind the Burnley goal. George Boyd tried to lift the home side and he had some joy down the flank before the minute unfolded that changed this game and might have changed the entire season.

After the crazy 60 seconds that saw Burnley miss a penalty and conced the only goal of the match, things got ever more desperate for the home side.

But they almost got themselves back into this with 10 minutes to go — only for Schmeichel to pull off his third cracking save of the match.

This time the Dane was on hand to make the kind of save that would have Banks himself applauding. He was forced to change his position almost in mid-air after a cross was deflected towards his goal.

It was a fantastic save that deserved to win three points.

As Burnley threw more men forward. the Foxes carved out a couple of openings that were well saved by Heaton, who impressed enough to make himself a contender for a future England squad.

The Clarets had another big shout for a penalty deep into injury time when it looked as though Robert Huth brought down one of the home side in a penalty area scramble — but the referee didn't give Burnley the chance to miss another spot kick.

Robbo: Two buys can win United title

Everton v Manchester United

Today, 1.30pm, live on Sky Sports 1

MANCHESTER United legend Bryan Robson says the club are two or three signings away from winning big trophies.

Captain Marvel also paid tribute to Van Gaal and current club skipper Wayne Rooney.

Robson said: "Van Gaal's squad have coped well considering the 'unbelievable' amount of injuries this season. We've proved this season that we are not far away as far as the Premier League is concerned.

"Yes we are a good number of points behind Chelsea.

"But you look at when we beat City by 11 points, they went on and won the title the next season."

He added: "If we bring two or three real top class players into the squad it will mean the lads can go and be successful.

"It's unbelievable the amount of injuries that the club have had.

"But they have coped with it and going into the last games, we are still in a good position for a Champions League place which has got to be paramount."

Dropped

On United's current midfield, Robson said he is impressed by Spaniards Juan Mata and Ander Herrera.

Meanwhile, Everton striker Romelu Lukaku says being dropped by Roberto Martinez convinced him to "wake up" and push on to get back in the team.

Lukaku has scored 11 times since the turn of the year.

Everton's record signing was benched for games with Newcastle and Hull over the festive period with Arouna Kone picked to lead the line instead.

Lukaku was brought back into the side for the FA Cup third round tie at home to West Ham and bagged the last minute equaliser to force a replay.

Since the turn of the year the 21-year-old has struck 11 times, including his hat-trick in the Europa League tie with Young Boys.

And the £28m forward says being taken out of the team made him realise that he was no longer guaranteed his place in the starting line-up.

"The manager's support was always there," Lukaku said.

"I am really dedicated to what he does on the training pitch and I always try to prepare for every game in the perfect way.

"I had difficulties with being physically right earlier in the season and so when he took me out of the team in December I knew I had to wake up.

"But when we went on the training camp in Qatar before the Crystal Palace game, I had a very good week and since then I am back to where I was.

"It was a wake up call.

"Maybe I needed that. I reacted well when I came back into the team and I have not looked back since."

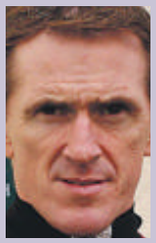
McCoy bows out with blank



TONY McCOY couldn't deliver a dream ending to his career as he had to settle for places on his two rides at Sandown yesterday.

There were emotional scenes as a massive crowd paid tribute to the greatest sportsman ever produced in the British Isles.

He couldn't win on Mr Mole or his final mount Box Office but that didn't stop the roof coming off the Esher track.

The 20-times champion jockey choked back tears as he left the track for the final time.

McCoy said: "If I was to thank everyone, I would be here forever. I have been so spoilt throughout my life and I've worked with some fantastic people and been lucky to ride so many winners for so many different trainers."

TITLE BATTLE: ARSENAL v CHELSEA, TODAY, 4PM, SKY SPORTS 1

BOO HOO

Fabregas able to cope with Ars abuse, says Jose

BIG MATCH ACTION!

IT'S ALL INSIDE

JOSE Mourinho believes Cesc Fabregas will not be troubled by the boo-boys on his return to Arsenal.

Fabregas is expected to get a hostile reception from Arsenal supporters on his first return to Emirates Stadium in a Chelsea shirt.

Arsenal chose not to exercise their first option to buy their former captain back from Barcelona last summer and Chelsea bought the midfielder for £30m instead.

He has played a major role in the Blue surge toward the title and a section of Arsenal fans are upset that he is now helping their London rivals.

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

But Mourinho says Fabregas won't be put off his game should they target him with abuse.

He said: "I don't know what reception he will get. I'm not worried about that.

"Frank Lampard played back at Stamford Bridge without a problem and with a good reception, I don't see a reason for Fabregas not to have the same.

"But if he has some bad reaction, he can be more than ready. He has already played against Arsenal in a Barcelona shirt."

Mourinho is still delighted to get Fabregas' signature, but does not know why Arsenal didn't make a move for the Spain star themselves.

He added: "I know why he chose Chelsea, not why he didn't go to Arsenal.

"I can only speak about us, what we promised him and what he promised us.

"We just promised him a team adapted to his style of play.

"In principal, we were thinking about him to be an important player in our project and a good project always ends with titles and he was looking for that.

Adapting

"I cannot compare my Fabregas with Arsenal's or Barcelona's Fabregas because I was not there to know what the managers he had were asking of him.

"With me, I can say he is doing everything we need from him.

He's adapting to many roles. Sometimes he plays very positional.

Other times as a mobile No8. Other times as a No10.

"And he's doing every job the team needs. It has been a fantastic contribution and season for us."

Mourinho confirmed Didier Drogba has recovered from a minor ankle injury to lead the line at emirates Stadium, but Loic Remy (calf) and Diego Costa (hamstring) face fitness tests.

That means 17-year-old Dominic Solanke is on stand-by to sit on the bench for what is a major title decider.

He added: "Diego's a very important player for us, but the reality is we are coping with the difficulties of every match without him. Remy did well. Didier is doing well.

"The team is playing in a different way to adapt to those two, but we are doing our job.

We played amazingly well during the most part of the season, scoring a lot of goals and controlling games very well through the quality of our possession."
